The sound of the 8:15 bell, the mad dash to first period class, the five minute gab session, the sudden silence as the second bell rings—thus each day began.

Dashing from class to class, we pursued the sometimes elusive phantom of knowledge. There were notes to take in history, unknown "x's" to find, ideas to develop into themes, term papers to write, science projects to complete, tests to take, Shakespeare or Chaucer to memorize, foreign language verbs to conjugate, push-ups to do in gym, and parallel material to read.

Review

Activities after school taught us knowledge that does not come from books. We developed leadership and initiative as we worked on club projects. We learned cooperation and teamwork as we met newspaper and yearbook deadlines, practiced for plays, and took parts in concerts. We learned to think constructively as we planned programs and special events.

As we view our year in retrospect, we will remember many things, but we will especially remember the times we spent learning together in our classes and activities.

Students of Knox High

The dawning of a new day held many tasks for the students of K.H.S. In different areas of the school district, alarms were ringing awaking someone to another day. The rush to get ready in time for a ride or the sometimes long walk to school began. Getting dressed, straightening the bedroom, and eating breakfast were all crowded into the swiftly escaping minutes. After arriving at school the hustle of school life was ever present. Students attending classes and increasing their knowledge was followed by the mad, crazed free minutes between classes. School life continued through the day until 3:15 when the final bell rang releasing the students from the sometimes distasteful routine of the day—school.

Margo Shaw considered fixing her hair as one of the most important aspects of good grooming.

Brenda Dedloff didn't go anywhere without brushing her teeth.

Some students rode school buses to school if they lived in the country.

Many students at K.H.S. also drove to school this year.

Found Preparing for School Difficult

Carlos Shrewsbury and Sheryl Elick enjoyed the classes they had together, but they liked the breaks better.

Going to class was one thing everyone had to do sooner or later.

Both Students and Teachers

The Knox High School had some very interesting and informative lyceum programs and also had some pep sessions with a lot of spirit. Some of the highlights of the year were a fine speech by U.S. Senator Birch Bayh, a program on Bohemian glass blowing, a Veterans' Day program, two plays by the speech classes, and the Christmas convocation by the choir. Pep sessions were held at the beginning of each sport season, before the Judson games, before the sectional, and at the presentation of the wrestling sectional trophy.

Coach Rush made a speech at the Football-Cross Country banquet honoring the players of the 67-68 season.

The school honored the eleven boys who wrestled in the sectional at Crown Point.

Mary Coberly, Paula Thompson, and Arneta Piper gave a combined speech on Veterans' Day.

"It's Cold in Them Thar Hills" was produced by the 5th period speech class and given to the student body.

Liked Pep Sessions, Lyceums, and Convos

Senator Bayh gave a program to the senior high student body while in Knox.

During a pep session the seniors on the basketball squad were introduced.

Debs Berning encouraged the fans and players before the Knox-Judson football game.

Coach Rush presented the school with the wrestling sectional trophy.

The Veterans' Day program put on by the speech classes impressed the student body with the patriotism of our soldiers.

After School Activities

When the 3:15 bell rang, the halls again became a traffic jam. But by 3:30 the only sound to be heard was maybe the turning of a teacher's key locking the door or the janitor sweeping. Where had everyone gone?

Some of the students rode their buses home and started their homework so their parents would let them go out or watch television in the evening. Others didn't worry about their homework, at least right when they got home. The minute they walked into the house, they ran to the refrigerator and raided it. The students who live in town followed almost the same procedure as the country kids. Some stopped at Davis', the library, or various other places before they finally reached home.

Many organizations and the athletes met after school. For example, the F.T.A. met on the second and fourth Mondays, G.A.A. met every Wednesday, Dance Band and sometimes choir got together after school. Most of the varsity athletes practiced right after school.

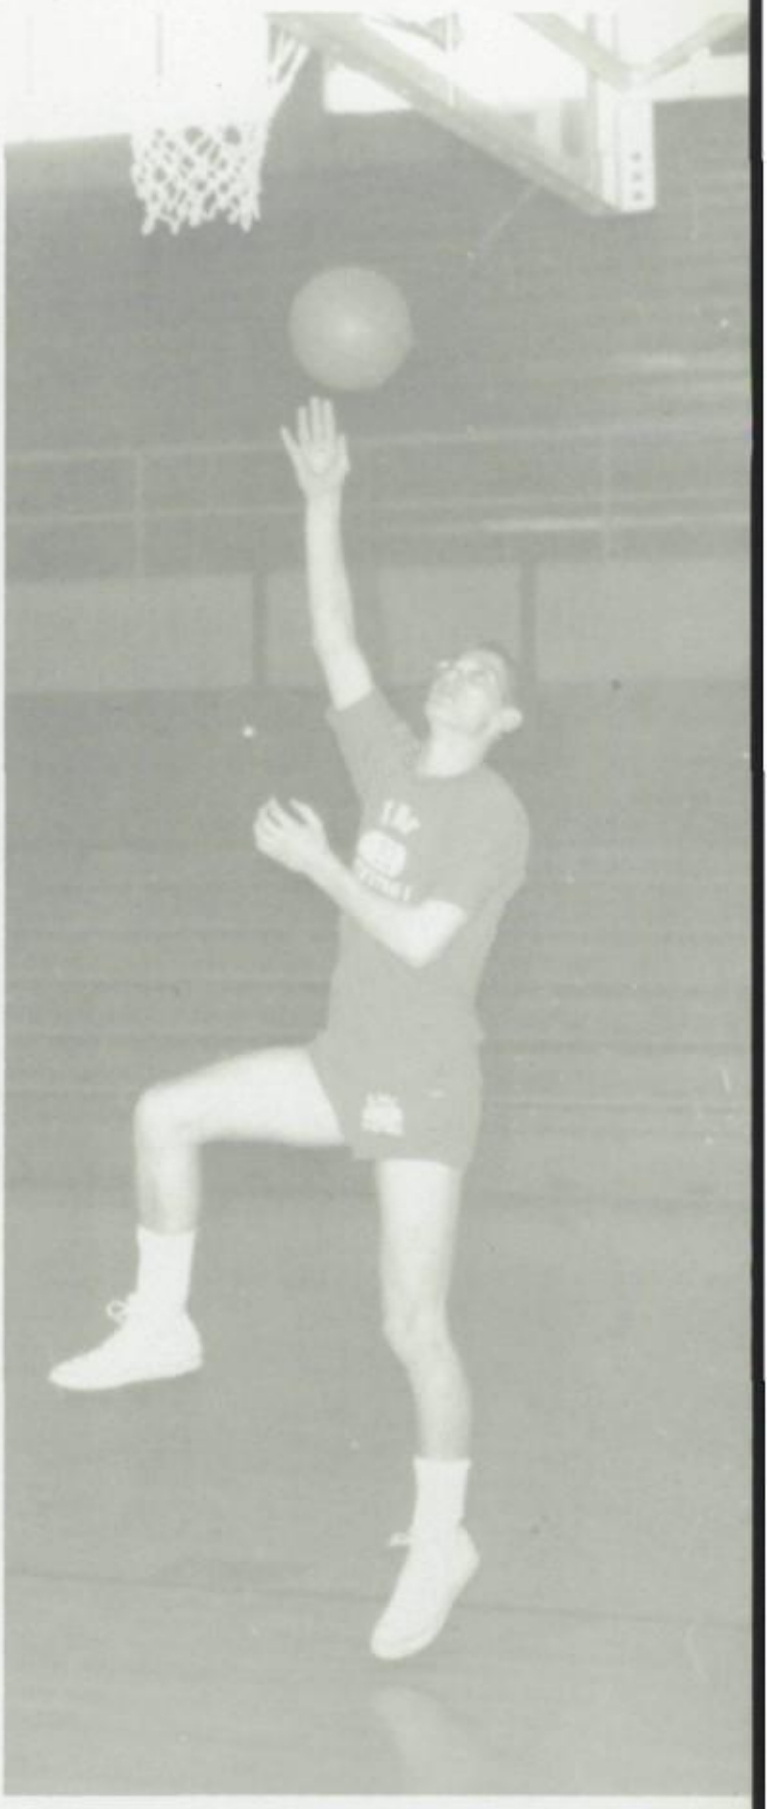
With all these activities it was not very often the community saw the masses of the high school students running around after school.

Debbie Corey always had the phone and food ready when she studied.

Jim Beeson and Mark Little talked about many interesting things in Davis'.

Kept Students Occupied

Many students gathered after school for band practice.



Basketball practice was a daily routine for Jim Lewandowski.

Peggy Ikeda and Edie Simmons were found in library quite often after school.

A dance sponsored by the cheerleaders after the Homecoming game was well attended.

Spectators had a good view from the wire along the sidelines.

Sandra Bailey, 1966 Homecoming Queen, assisted Donna Garland with putting on the queen's robe.

Excitement Mounted As Pre

Even though it was Friday the 13th and it rained all day, the spirits of the Knox students were high for Homecoming.

Friday morning large mums were distributed to the students who had purchased them earlier in the week.

A pep session was held in the gymnasium with entertainment by the High School band and Pom-Pom girls. Denny Price, as master of ceremonies, introduced the queen candidates: Claudia Allen, G.A.A. and K-Club; Donna Garland, Music Department; Peggy Garland, Sophomore Class; Patty Henry, Senior Class; Sandy Keiser, Freshman Class; Margo Shaw, Library and Thespian Society; Sharon Strait, F.T.A. and Science Club; Betty Van Deman, Junior Class; and Kathy Wakal, F.H.A. and F.F.A. Mr. Laramore, Coach Rush, Dale Morris, Wade Nichols, and Mayor Johnson delivered speeches that raised the enthusiasm of the fans.

The floats were presented to the fans before the game started. The Juniors took first place with "Dash to Victory," "Coast to Victory" won the Sophomores second place, and the Freshmen got third with "Worm R Way 2 Victory." At halftime Donna Garland was crowned queen.

Although the team put forth their best efforts, they lost to the Twin Lakes Indians 6 to 14. A dance, sponsored by the cheerleaders, was held after the game.

The Juniors won first prize for their Homecoming float, "Dash to Victory."

Game Festivities Began

DONNA GARLAND—Homecoming Queen

Homecoming and Prom Were

Queens and their courts played an important part in prom and homecoming activities. The prom court was nominated from the class and elected by the juniors and seniors. Nancy Wright, elected queen, was a member of the Thespian Society, band, and participated in cheerblock. She was also an active member of her class. The prom court consisted of Connie Fritz, Margo Shaw, Sharon Carlson, and Patty Henry. Connie was a member of the varsity cheerleading squad, and an active member of the band. Margo, this year's president of Thespian, was also on the varsity cheerleading squad. Sharon was a squad leader of the Redettes. Patty not only participated in school activities, but also danced in plays at Culver.

Homecoming was made complete by the crowning of Donna Garland. Each class and many organizations nominated and supported a queen candidate. The freshman class also shared the honor this year and selected a candidate. This year's court consisted of Donna Garland, Queen; Sharon Strait; Peggy Garland; Claudia Allen; Margo Shaw; Patty Henry; Kathy Wakal; Sandy Keiser; and Betty VanDeman.

NANCY WRIGHT—Prom Queen

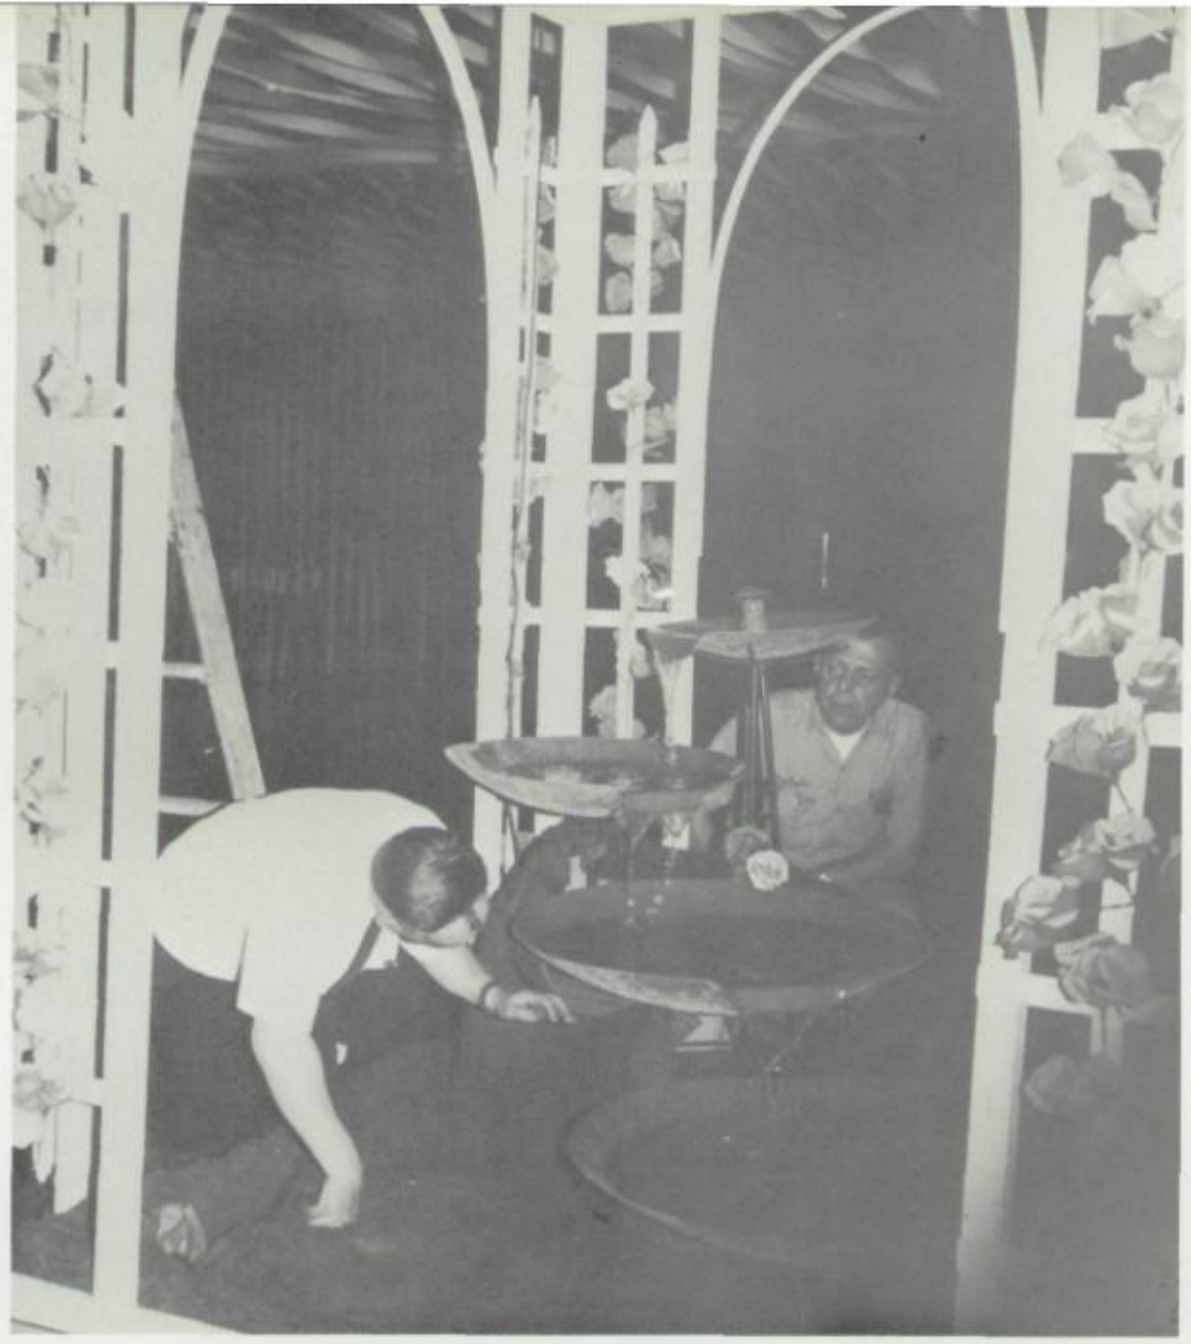
At 11 P.M. Nancy Wright was named queen of 'Moonlight and Roses.'

Waiting to be escorted to their tables, excited juniors stand under a rose covered arch.

'Moonlight and Roses,' Theme of Prom Set

Members of the sophomore class presided over the refreshment table.

Anticipation mounted as juniors decorated the gym to follow the theme "Moonlight and Roses."



The fountain was installed under the rose covered trellis by Mr. Beeson and Mr. Burns.

Mood for Romantic Evening

'Moonlight and Roses' was selected as the theme for the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom. To carry out the theme, the juniors, with the help of their sponsors, decorated the gym in American Beauty and pink crepe paper with yellow and pink roses. A rose covered trellis in the middle of the gym set the atmosphere for romance and beauty. Candles and roses on the tables added to the festive occasion.

The guests entered the gym through a rose covered archway and were escorted to their tables by the sophomore servers dressed in black and white.

At 11 p.m. Dennis Price, president of the junior class, announced that Nancy Wright had been selected Queen. She was crowned by Peggy Hauser, Queen of the '66 Prom. After a few remarks, Nancy and Dennis led the Grand March.

Dancing continued until 12 p.m. when the scene changed to the V.F.W. for a fast dance and a movie. After Sunday morning breakfast was served, many prom goers went to the Dunes State Park for an enjoyable afternoon.

The fun and happiness of the big weekend will always be remembered by those who attended.

in Scholarship, Citizenship, and Skill

The senior class was indeed proud of its top 12 and the other special award winners. The twelve students with the highest indexes, even though they studied, didn't have their noses in books all the time because they participated in many other school activities. Sharon Strait, who entered K.H.S. near the end of her junior year, maintained her high grade average thus becoming the valedictorian of the Class of '68. Rose Wajda also worked hard for her ranking as salutatorian.

Among the top 12 we had the president of the student body, the president of the senior class, one of the Boys' State representatives, the Girls' State alternate, the DAR Good Citizen, the Betty Crocker Homemaker, the editor of the yearbook, the Smoke Signals sports editor, the secretary-treasurer and sergeant-at-arms of K-Club, the most valuable wrestler and most valuable lineman in football, the G.A.A. treasurer, and the band vice-president.

The Girls' State and Boys' State representatives, chosen their junior year, were Debs Berning, Wade Nichols, and Ralph Swanson. These students were chosen because of their interest in government and politics. The DAR Good Citizen, Rose Wajda, took a test to prove her worthiness as did Kathy Golding, the Betty Crocker Homemaker.

Academics

In

The key to learning is held somewhere in school life. The K.H.S. curriculum boasted courses to appeal to every student. Pre-college courses to prepare the students interested in a higher education and vocational arts for those interested in a livelihood were offered.

With the increasing stress on a higher education, it became important to many students to take courses that would prepare them for college. Counselling and reading college booklets helped students select courses that would prepare them for their future careers. College Board exams were taken and the results received with mixed emotions of joy and regret.

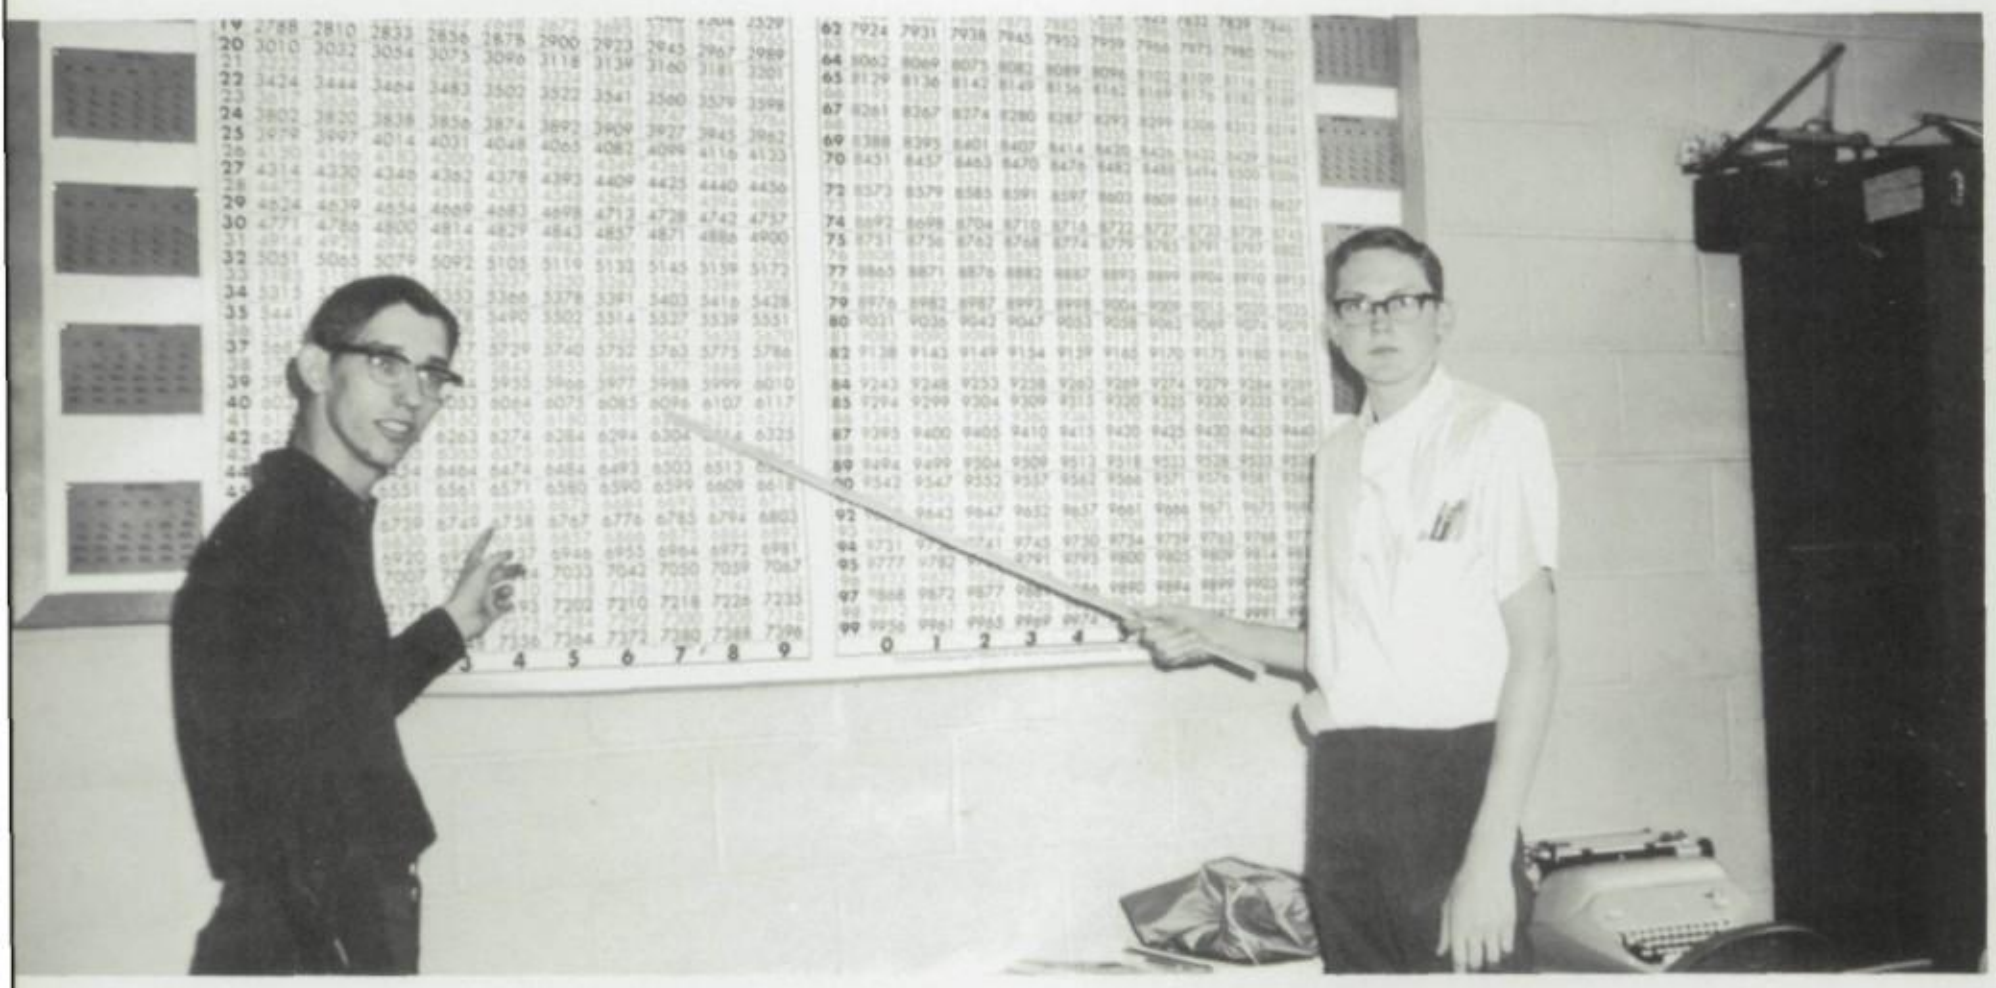
Those interested in vocational arts could obtain training in home economics and agriculture and mechanical maintenance. The arts these students learned in the courses helped them carry out their life ambitions.

Through education the doors of life were opened. These were the doors through which the students will travel for the rest of their lives. The school day, filled with courses ranging from chemistry to art, was one that the students will rely on for many years.

Inquisitive Minds Probe into Mysteries



Jim Lewandowski and Mike Beauchamp showed the rest of the class the logs of certain numbers.

Mathematics will play an important role in the future years of each and every student in Knox High School. Whether he realizes it or not, everyone uses math every day of his life. It may be just adding or subtracting in most cases, but there are a lot of people in this world who make math their profession. Some of these people include math teachers, tax consultants, accountants, auditors, architects, and of course people who own a business are always dealing with figures.

Knox High School offered a variety of courses dealing with math. As freshmen the students were required to take either Algebra I, an introduction to the basic concepts of the unknown, or general math, a summary of the math learned for the eight years before this. Upon entering high school the elective courses were more numerous. Sophomores could take geometry, dealing with mainly one plane and proofs. Advanced algebra was offered to those juniors who had taken Freshman algebra and geometry. Seniors completing previous math courses could take senior math, dealing with higher algebra and some trigonometry.

Since the emphasis on mathematics has grown, more students seem to be taking the higher levels of math. The atomic age is coming fast, and many students believe they must keep up with the changing times.

Merlyn Lucas loved to use the overhead projector, especially when Mr. Wehlage wasn't around.

of Mathematics

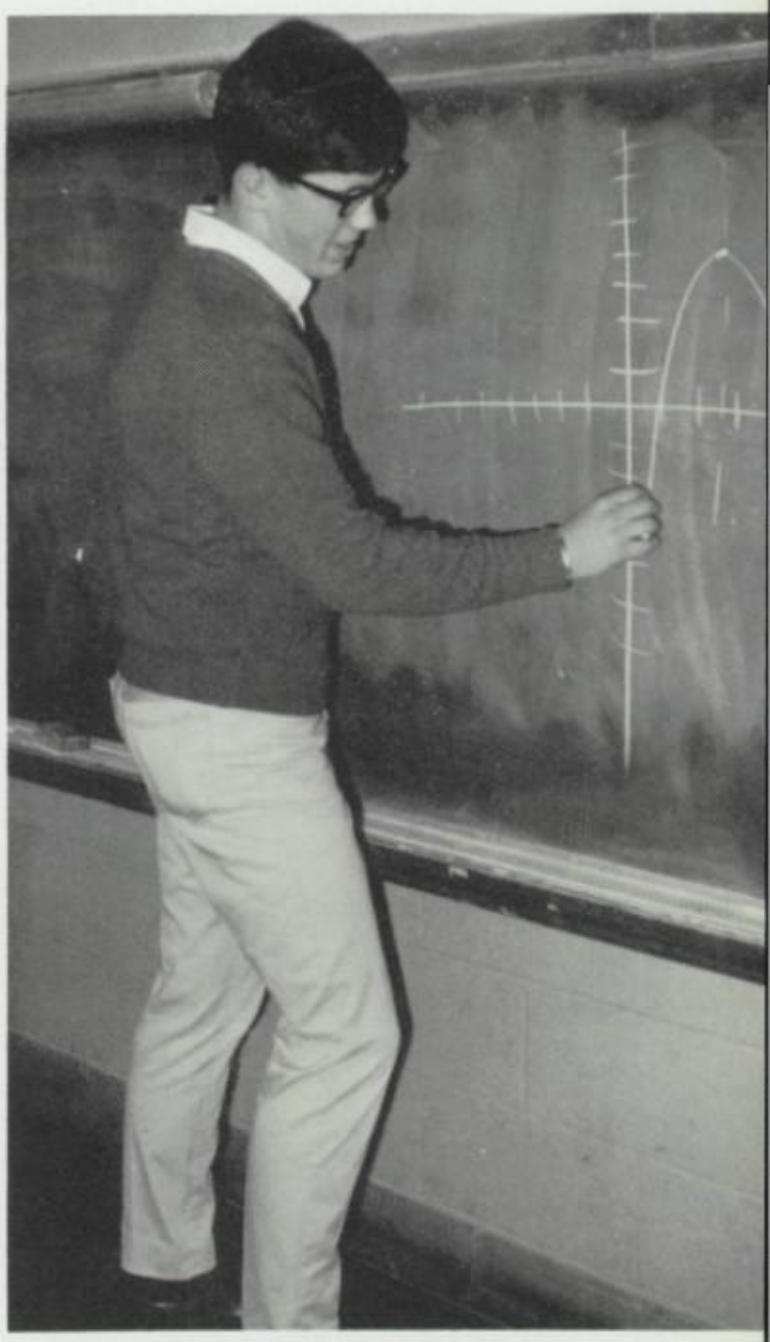
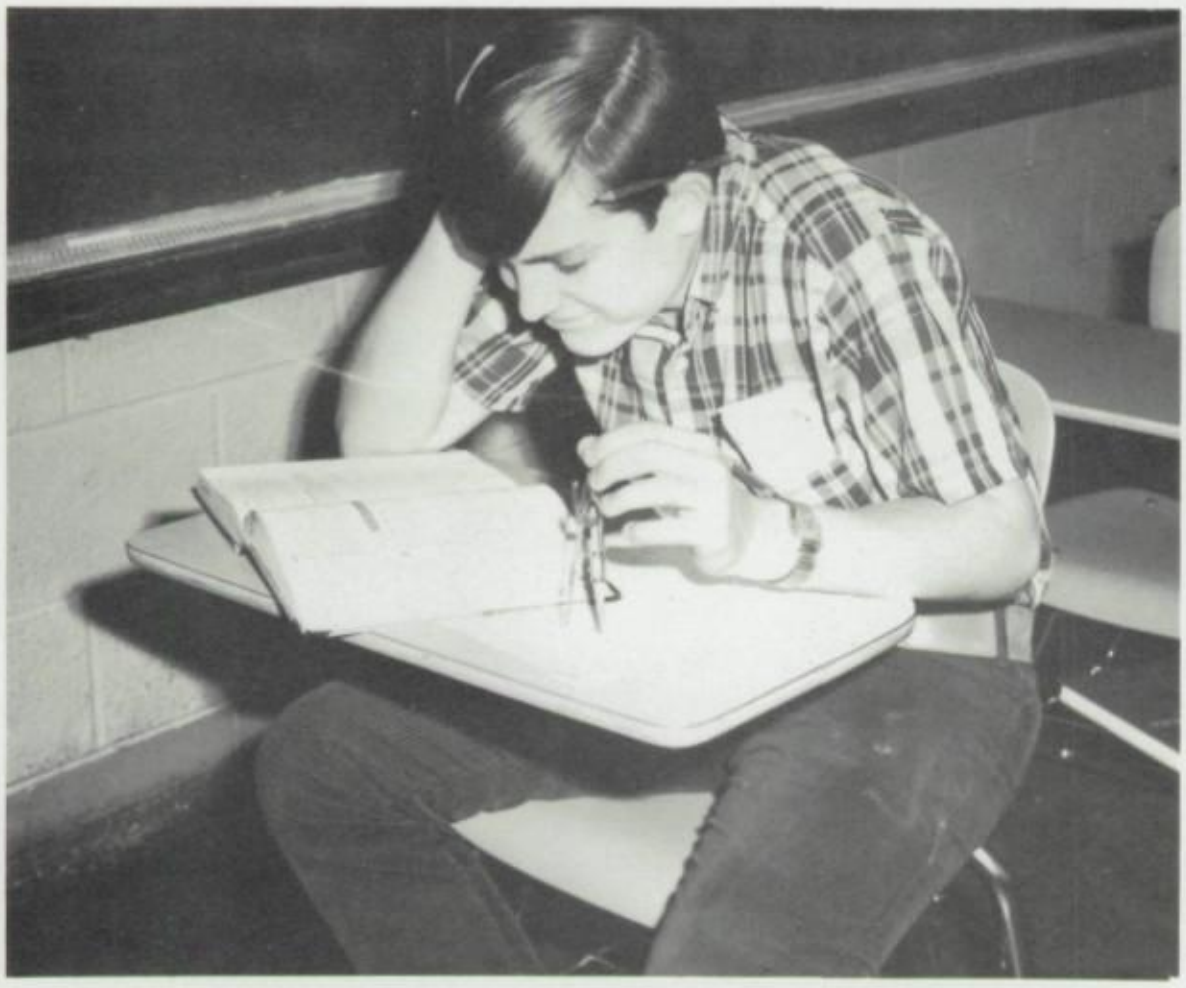
Nancy Binkowski worked with three-dimensionals in geometry class.

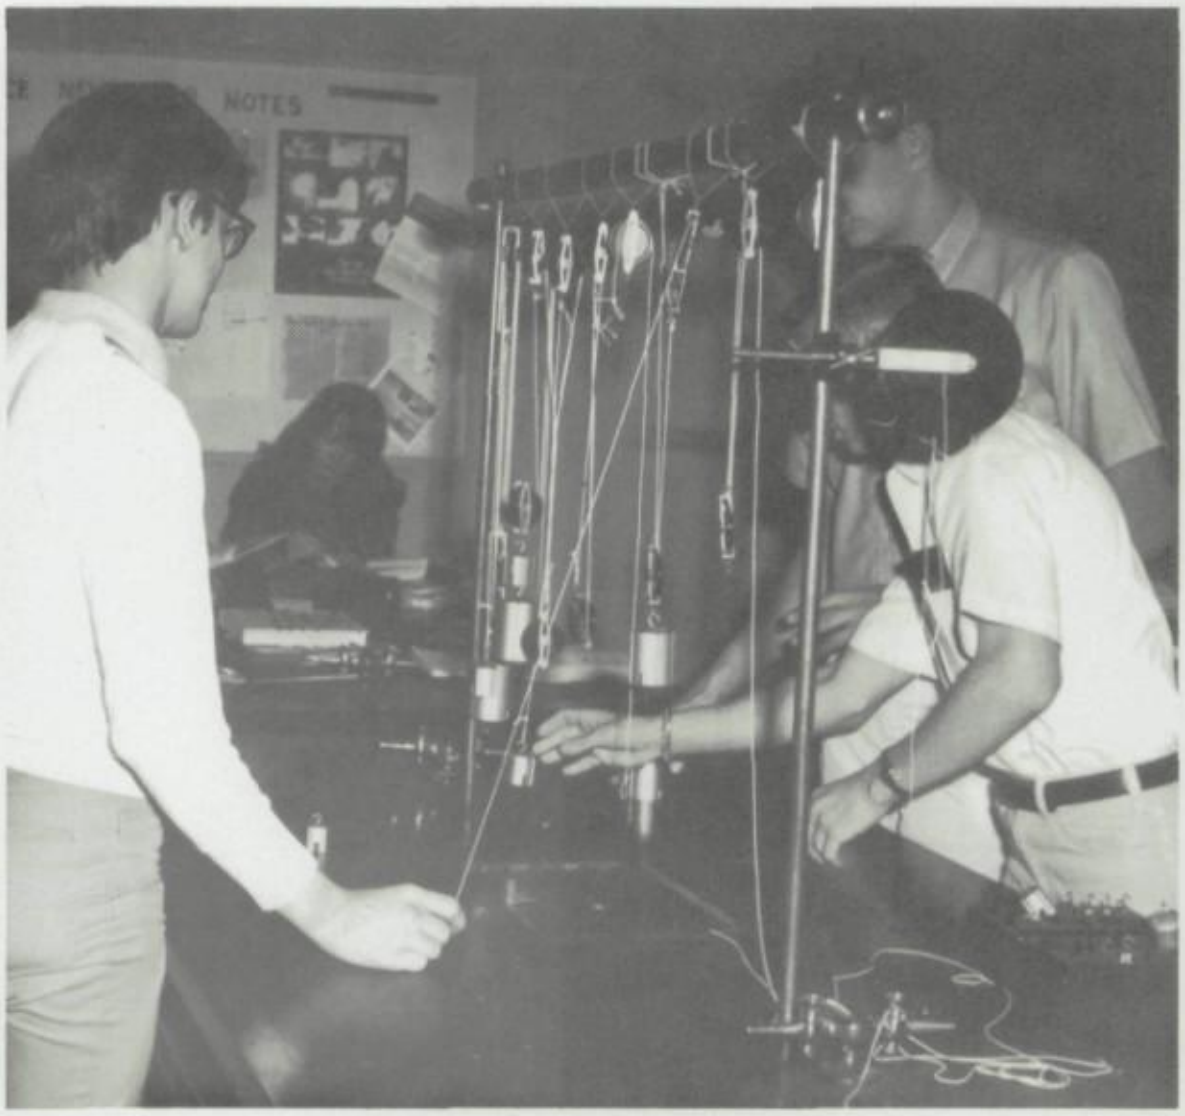


Of the algebra students, Randy Abbey was chosen best parabola drawer in his class.



Bill Zechiel seems to be having fun with his compass.

Dennis Trigg found that the G tuning fork has a wavelength 21 cm. long.

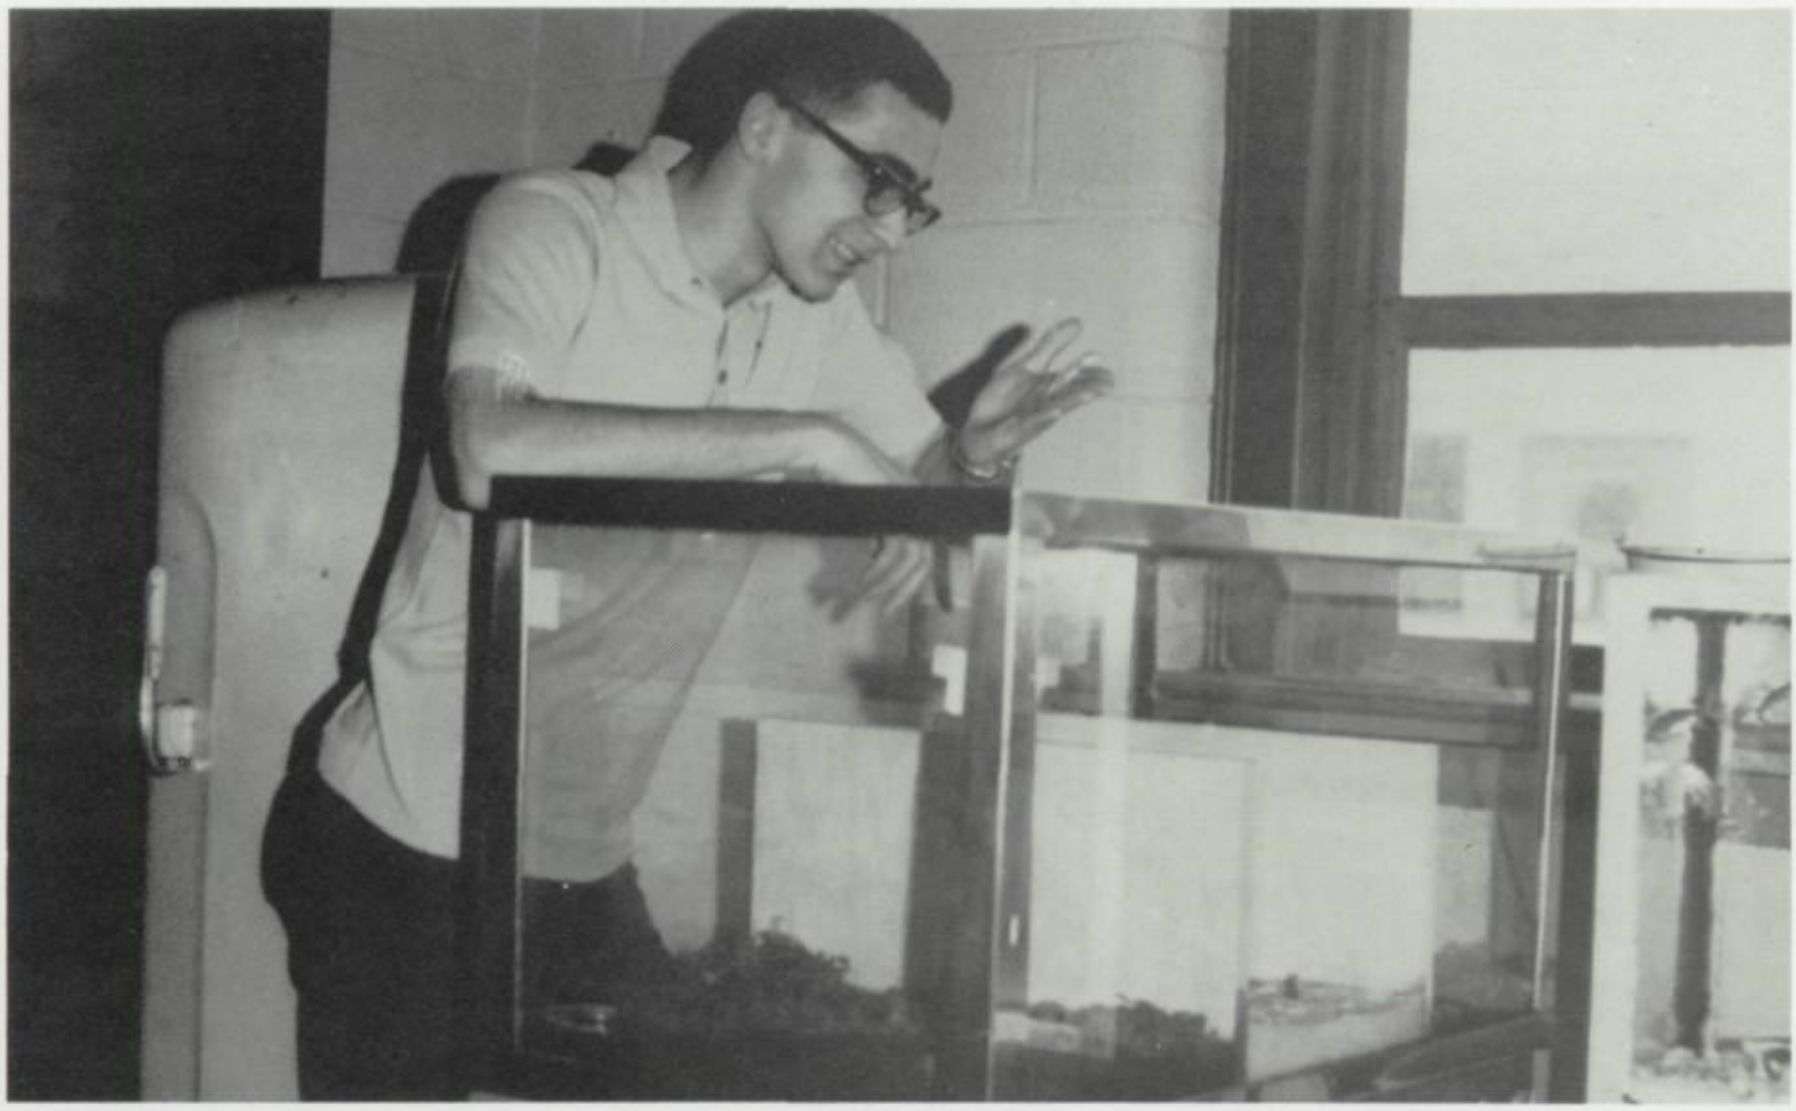


Will King, Wade Nichols, and Butch Fennema liked to play with pulleys in physics class.

Scientific Minded Students

Chemistry labs fascinated Clara Brown.

Bob Wilhelm enjoyed using the microscope.



Marc George made a terrarium for his biology project.

of Knox High Searched for New Knowledge

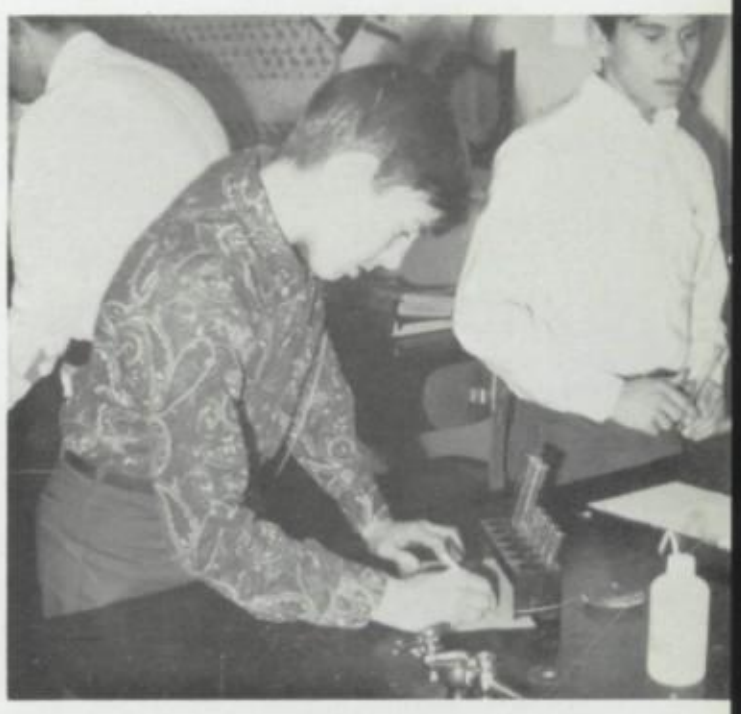
Space ships and the world of the unknown plagued students of science. Because college educations have an increased emphasis on science, more and more students were pressed into science courses offered at K.H.S.

Science courses started with biology offered to the sophomores. In this course students learned the basis of biology concerning the plant and animal kingdoms. Chemistry, an elective for juniors and seniors, enabled the students to work with chemicals and learn the different reactions in many experiments. After completing chemistry, seniors could take physics, which deals with matter and energy and their transformations.

As the world advances, more things about our environment will need to be known. The only way these important facts can be learned is through education in the fields of science. School programs play an important part in interesting the scientists of tomorrow in the wonders of our universe.

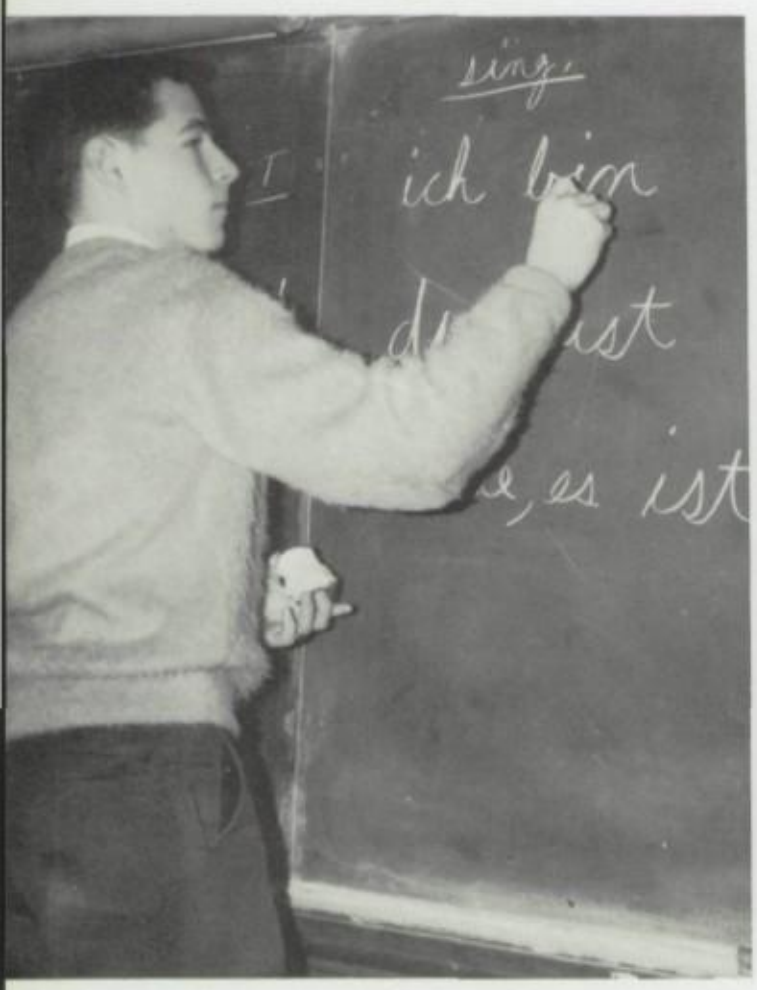


Getting ready for a lab always presented a problem to Ronnie Beem and Reed Siebenthal.

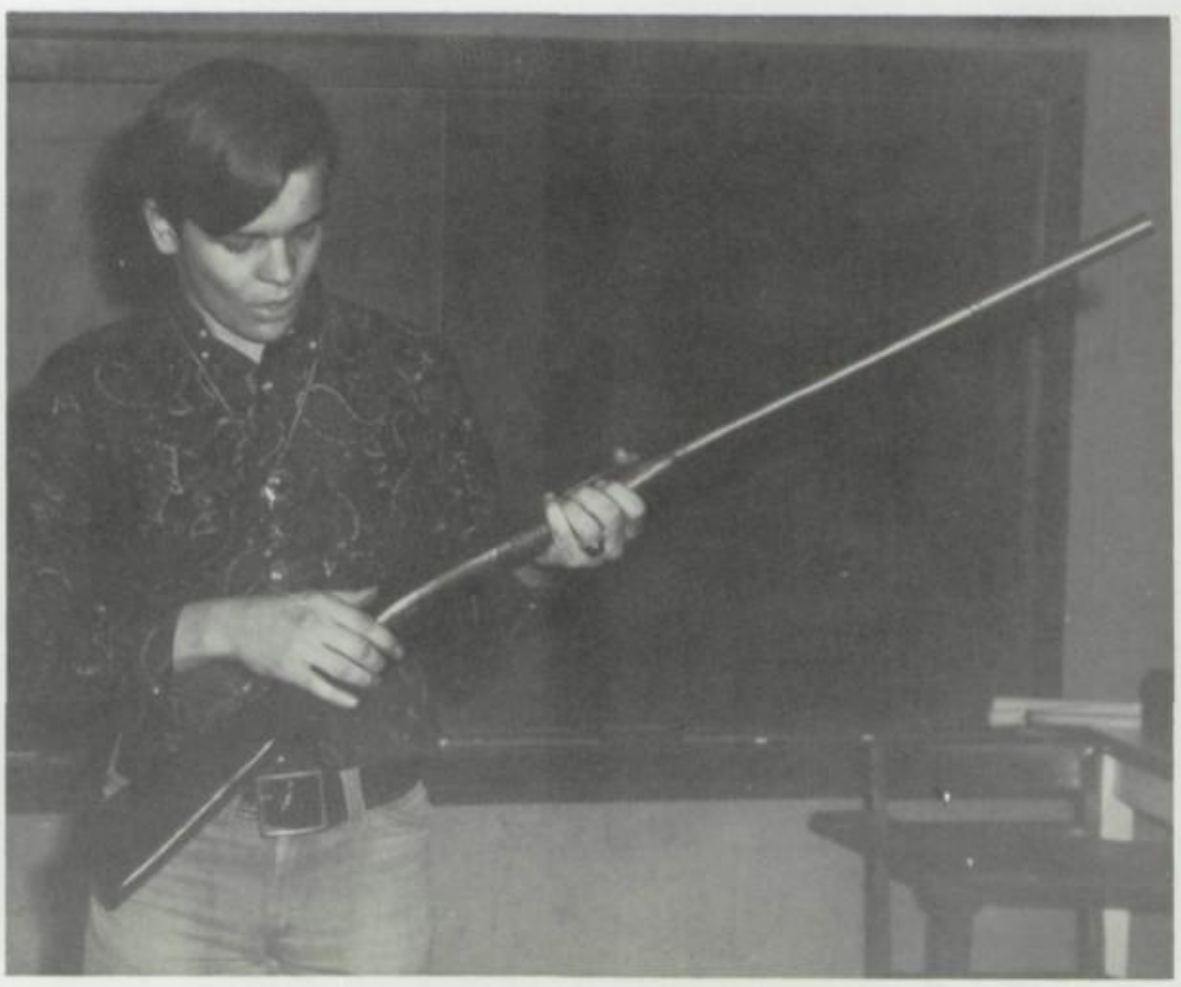
Language

Vern Hendricks, Wade Nichols, Gary Watkins, and Andy Howes, speech students, were in the Veterans' Day program.

Jane Hamblin wasn't always this happy when she had to translate her Latin.

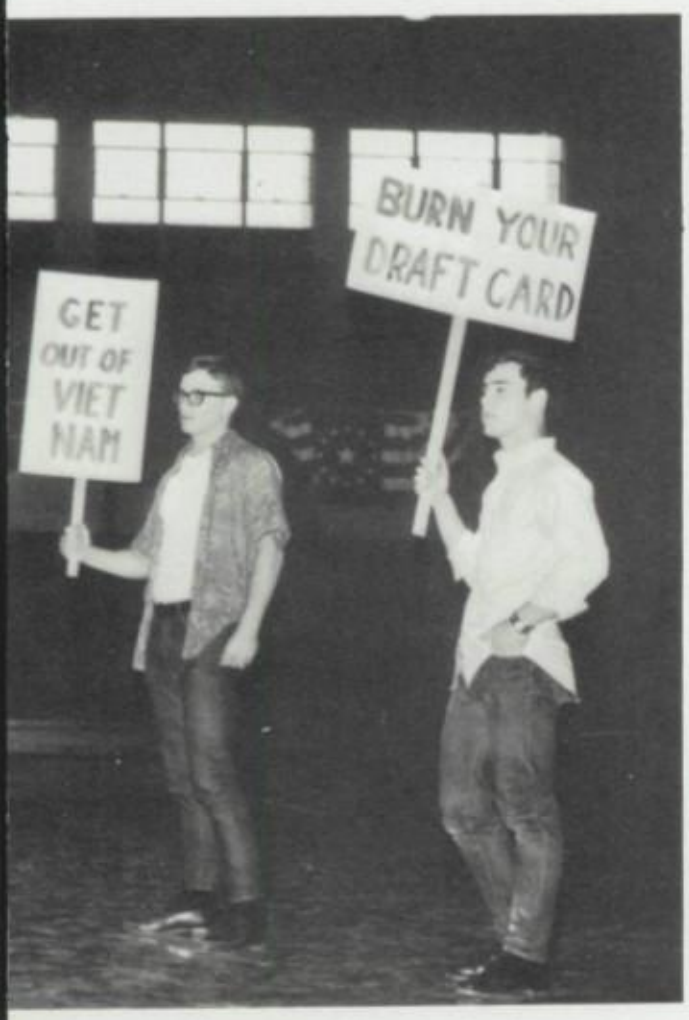


Bill Beeson conjugated the German verb, sein, on the board.



When the speech classes were giving informative speeches, Will King chose to speak about guns.

Prepared Students for Future Lives



Foreign and familiar tongues worked together to increase the communication power of the future leaders of our community and country. In a world that makes it possible for people to travel and see more of the world they live in, communication is of increasing importance. As the hope of world peace grows in the hearts of world leaders, communication is essential.

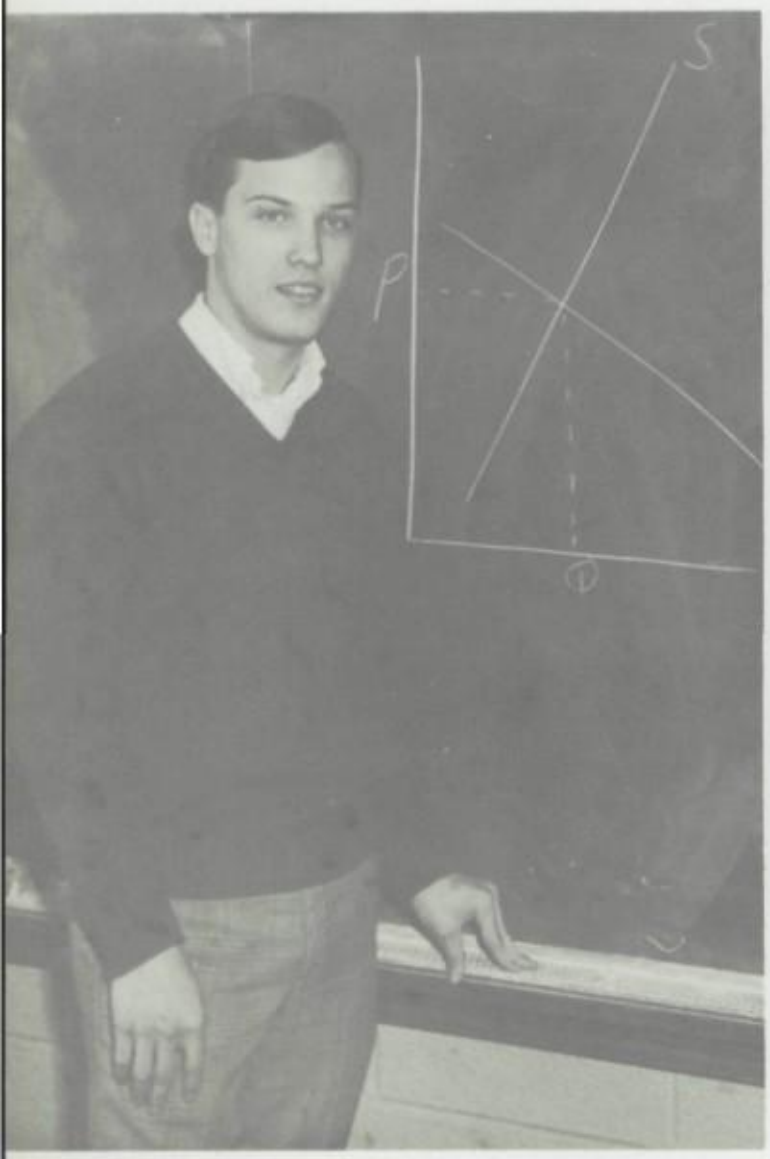
During a student's high school years three years of English is required. This requirement was filled through the freshmen, sophomore, and junior years. In the senior year students had the choice of selecting senior literature or speech. Speech class sponsored many programs this year. These included plays put on for the student body and a Veterans' Day program. Mrs. Miller, the speech teacher, helped the students interested in speech contests. The speech classes of North Judson and Knox planned a debate during the year. In senior literature classes European literature was studied.

Two years of Latin and three years of German were offered at K.H.S. for the students interested in foreign languages. Both Latin and German helped students with learning to study, and Latin especially helped them to increase their vocabularies.

The winner of the American Legion speech contest, Mary Coberly, had to do much research.

Cathy Smith, a typical junior in Mrs. Hite's English class, was required to make and put up a bulletin board.

Social Studies Helped Students



Terry Nichols demonstrated the supply and demand theory in economics class.

Pam Nesbitt was kept busy during Mr. Simmons history class taking notes.

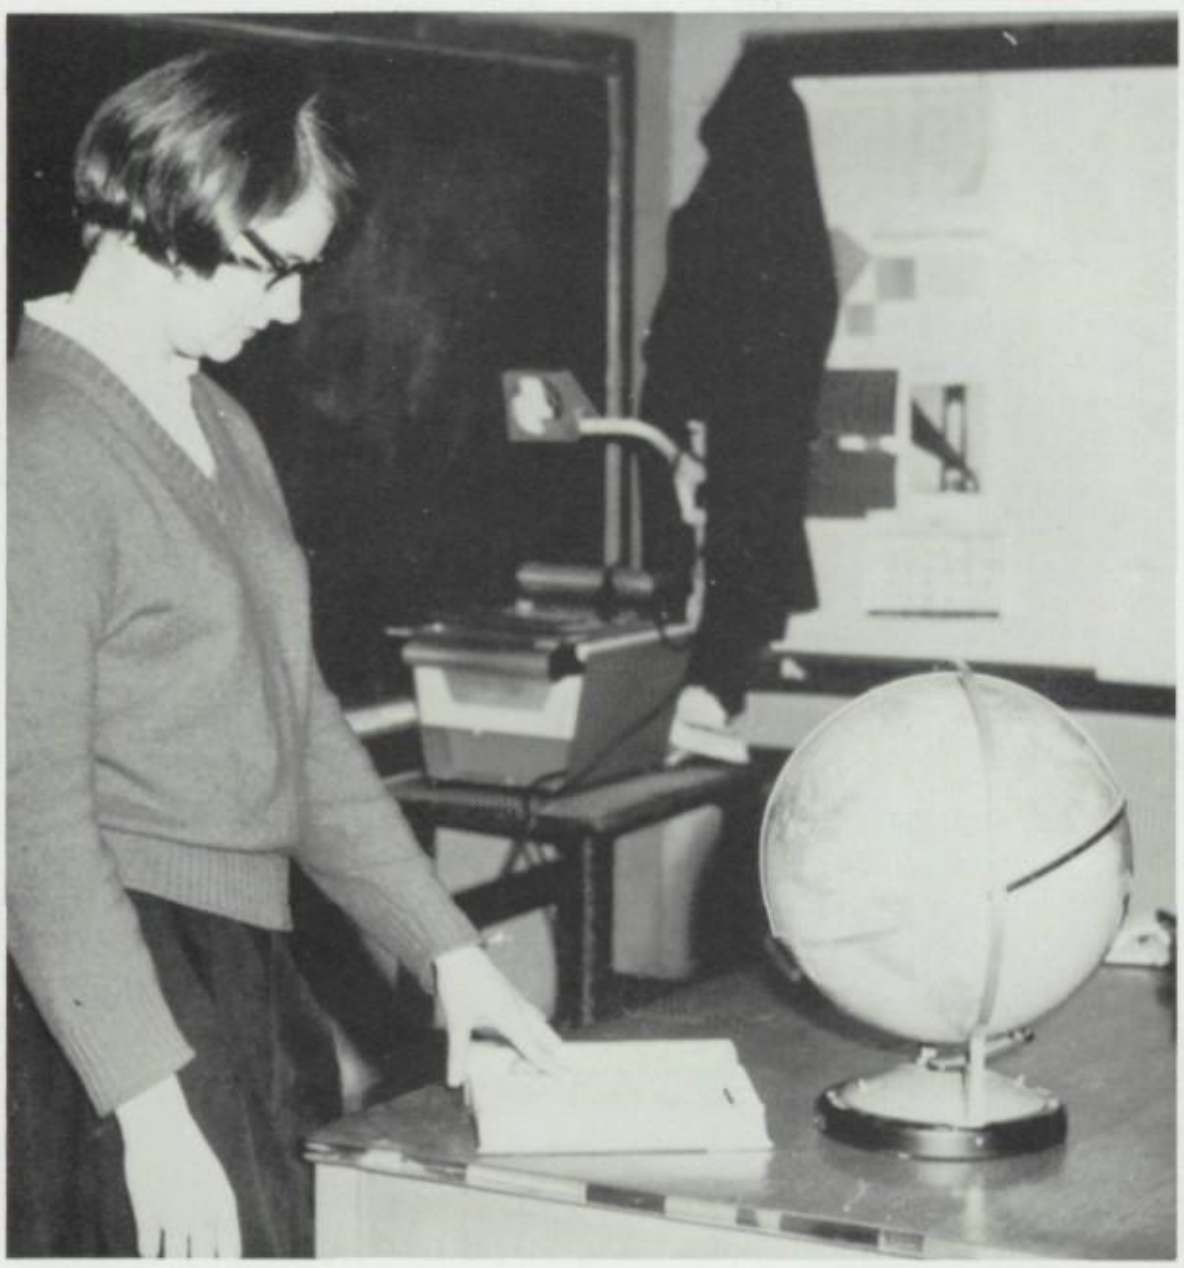
Rose Wajda gave a demonstrational speech in Government class on Sweden.

Interpret Modern Concepts

Current events, learning from past mistakes, and foretelling the future from past history were all taken into consideration in the social studies curriculum. Many students studied the various phases of social studies offered at K.H.S. As the students advanced in knowledge, they were also confronted with the necessity to know the past. United States history and world history fulfilled these needs.

In the freshman year the students were required to take citizenship, which dealt with just about every phase of our government and also quite a bit of world history. United States history, which covered the U.S. from its discovery to its condition in today's world, was also a requirement usually filled the junior year. All the seniors were required to take a semester of government and a semester of economics. World history was an elective open to anyone, but most of the students took it as sophomores because they had no other history that year. This course included prehistoric times until now.

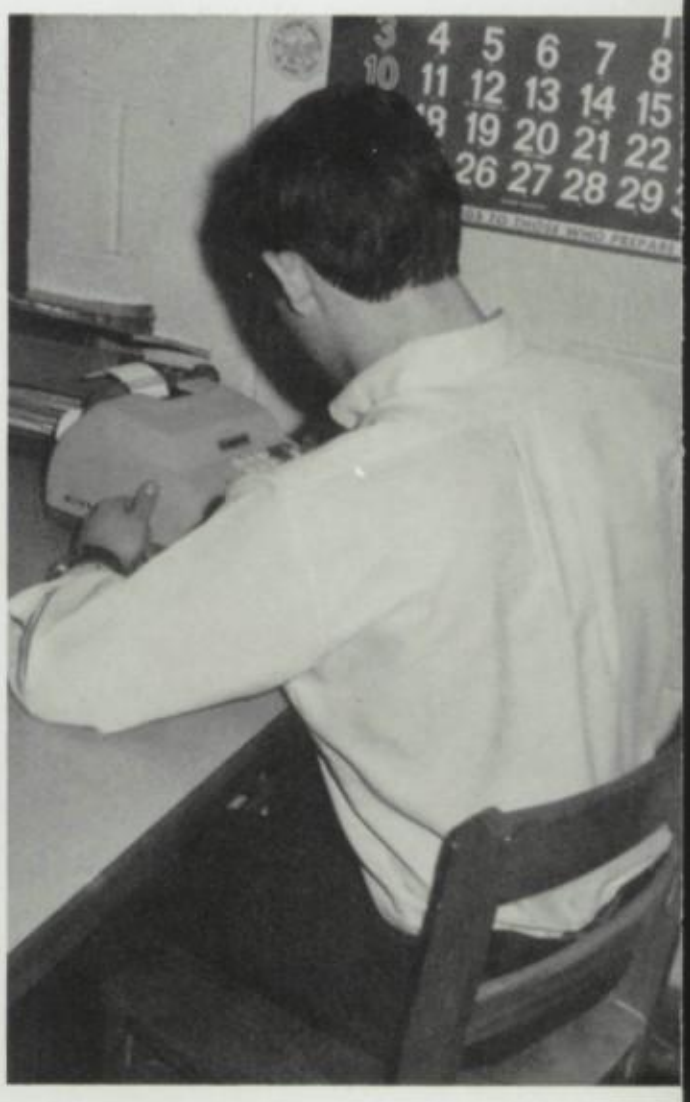
All these courses tried to acquaint the students with their world and prepare them to face this world after graduation.



The world globe was a great help to Joan Marsh throughout world history.

Social studies students like Sharon Strait often used magazines for special reports on current events.

A Stage for



Bookkeeping was one of Andy Howes' problems.

Chuck Randall improved greatly throughout the year—at the beginning he always got tangled up in the ribbon.

Opportunity Set by Business Courses

With a more complex way of life, bookkeeping is becoming a more exacting science. More secretaries are needed than ever before. People able to work computers and machines are being sought by business.

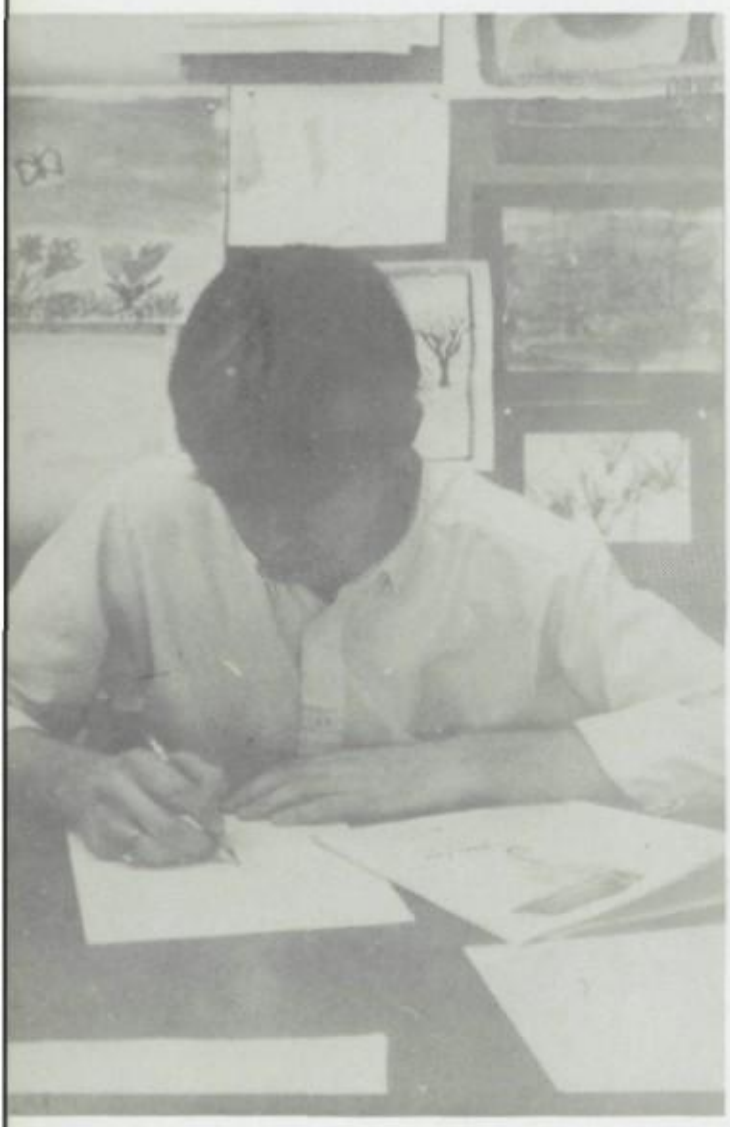
High school business courses open these fields to those who are interested. After high school many students will be able to get jobs through their business courses. These courses may help others in college work.

Many fields of business were opened to the students of Knox high school. Typing, also offered in summer school, was an excellent course for all students whether they were planning a business profession or not. Shorthand was offered to the girls really interested in becoming efficient secretaries. Bookkeeping, record keeping, economic law and geography, and many other courses in business were also offered at K.H.S. These courses taught the students to tabulate business transactions effectively and accurately and really learn what was behind the lines in the business world today.

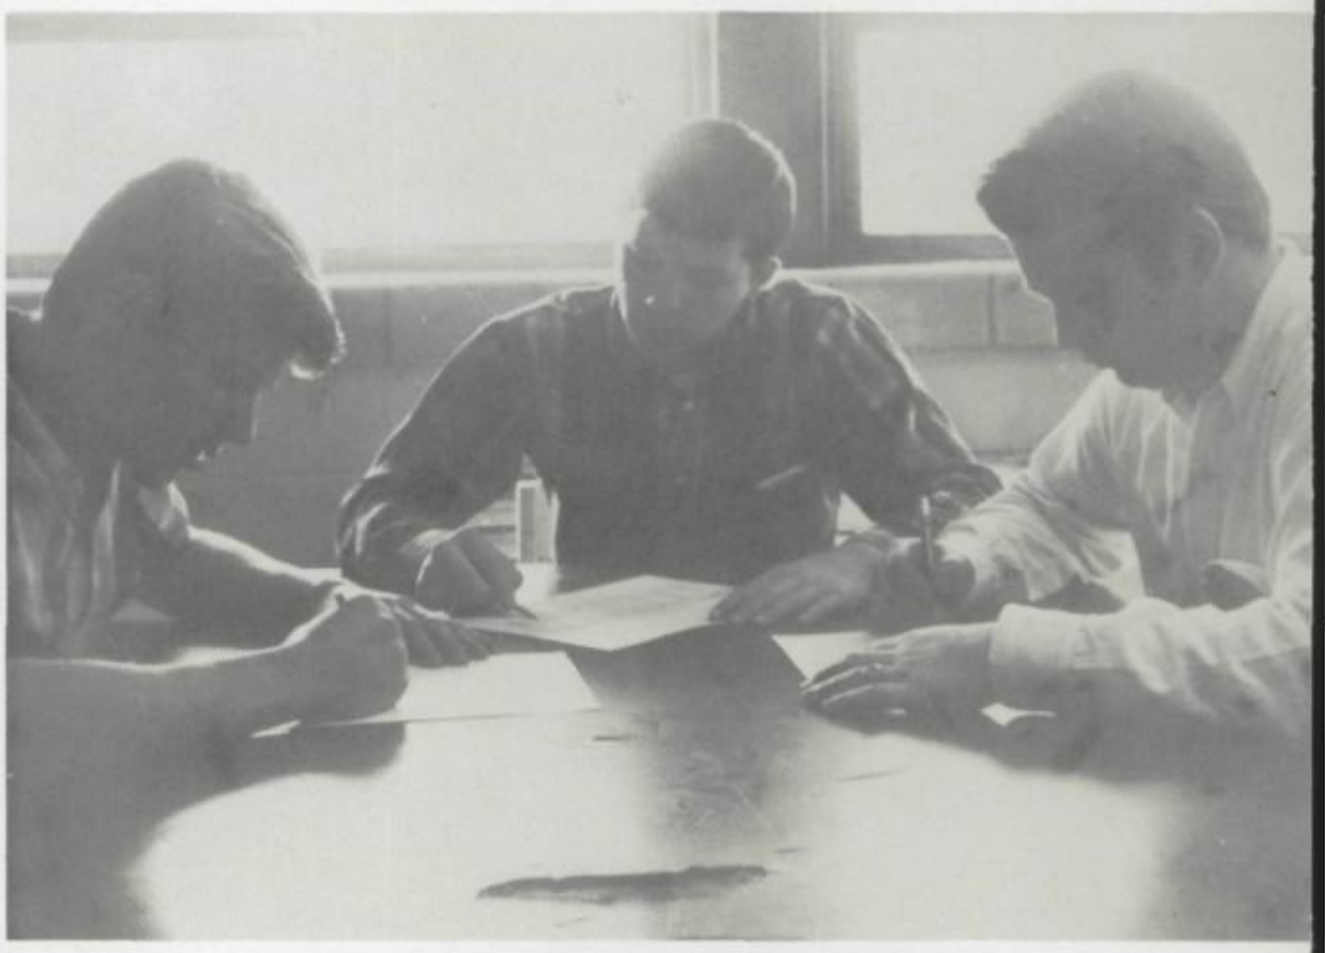
There are many opportunities available for the students looking for a future in the business life from medical to the industrial world, and K.H.S. has offered good courses to prepare these students for their future lives.

Susie Elam, visualizing herself as some firm's secretary, carefully practiced her shorthand.

Fine Arts Developed Cultural Tastes



Dan Carpenter diligently drew a copy of the ad from a magazine.



Paul Stockey, Bob Peterson, and Bob Oleniczak enjoyed sketching architectural designs.

Georgeanne Palman added the final touches to her chalk drawing.

Physical Education—Health

Strong bodies are as important as strong minds in the world today. Physical education strengthened the bodies of students while fine arts improved their cultural interest.

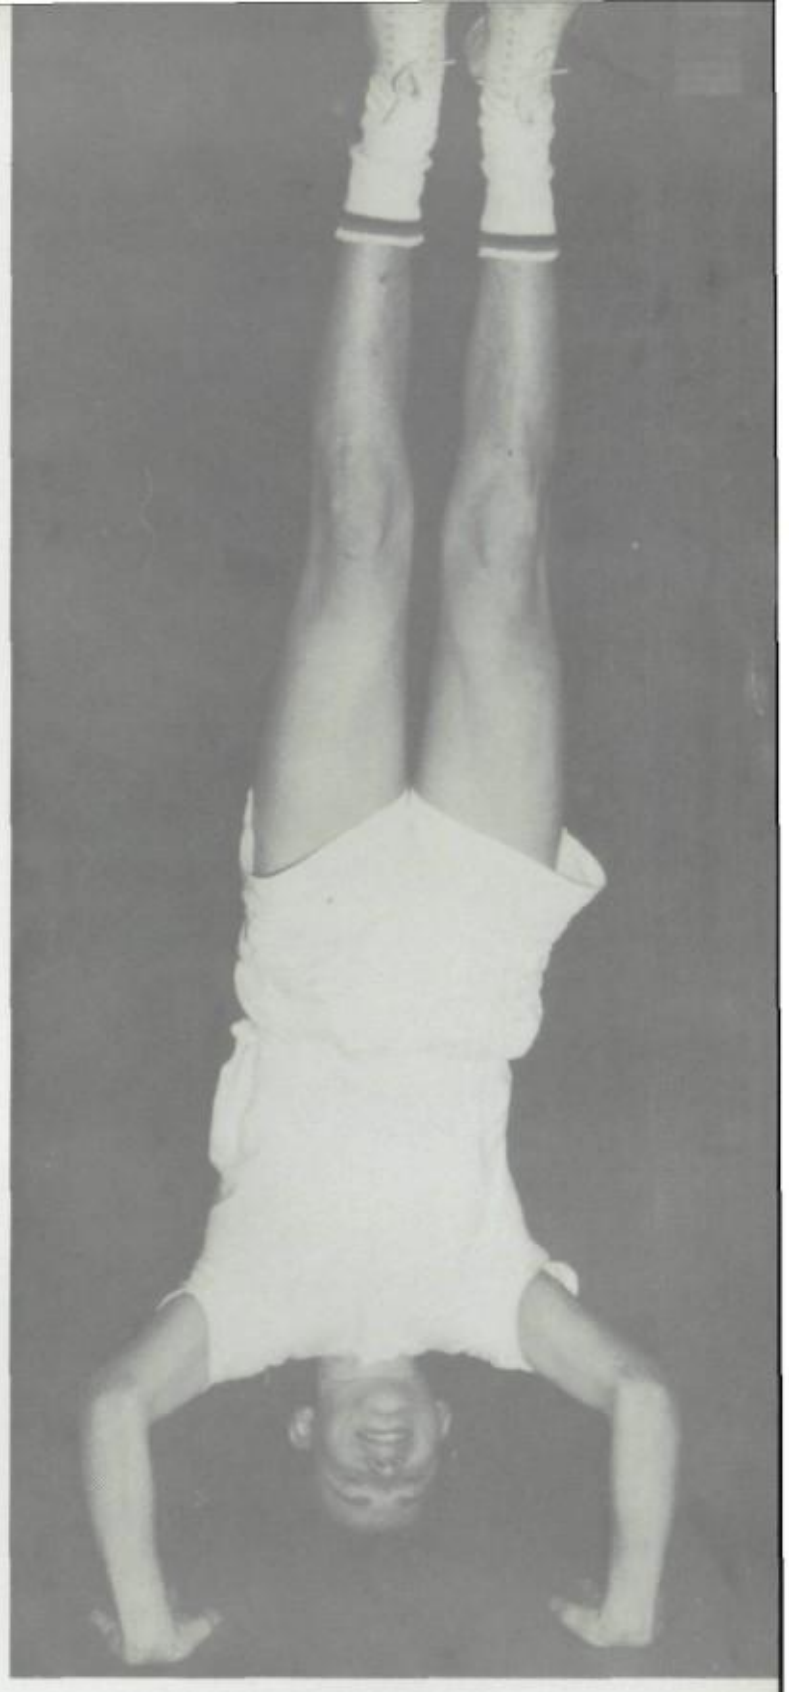
Physical education, required only in the sophomore year, took up many fields. Tumbling, group games, basketball, baseball, and wrestling were included in the schedule of the physical education classes.

Art classes took various fields of cultural training into view. The students learned to make and work with paper mache, model clay, draw with different instruments, and to sculptor. The art classes also made many poster and bulletin boards to decorate the school throughout the year.

Musical interests were increased through chorus and band. The band and choir presented four concerts and many convocations during the year.

Girls in P.E. class learned many sports including volleyball.

Mark Richey practiced many hours on his cornet.



It's a topsy turvy world for John Warren as he stands on his head.

At the beginning of physical education class, the girls started warm-ups with jumping jacks.

Contemplating the use she will receive from her efforts, Pam Falk asked Darla Johnson to pin the hem into her suit.

Dorsajean Smith and Linda Smith enjoyed studying cookery.

Practical

Mr. Cira was always ready to help Dave Palmer with his mechanical drawing.

George Garner spent much of his time sanding his table top.

Training Aided in Developing Careers

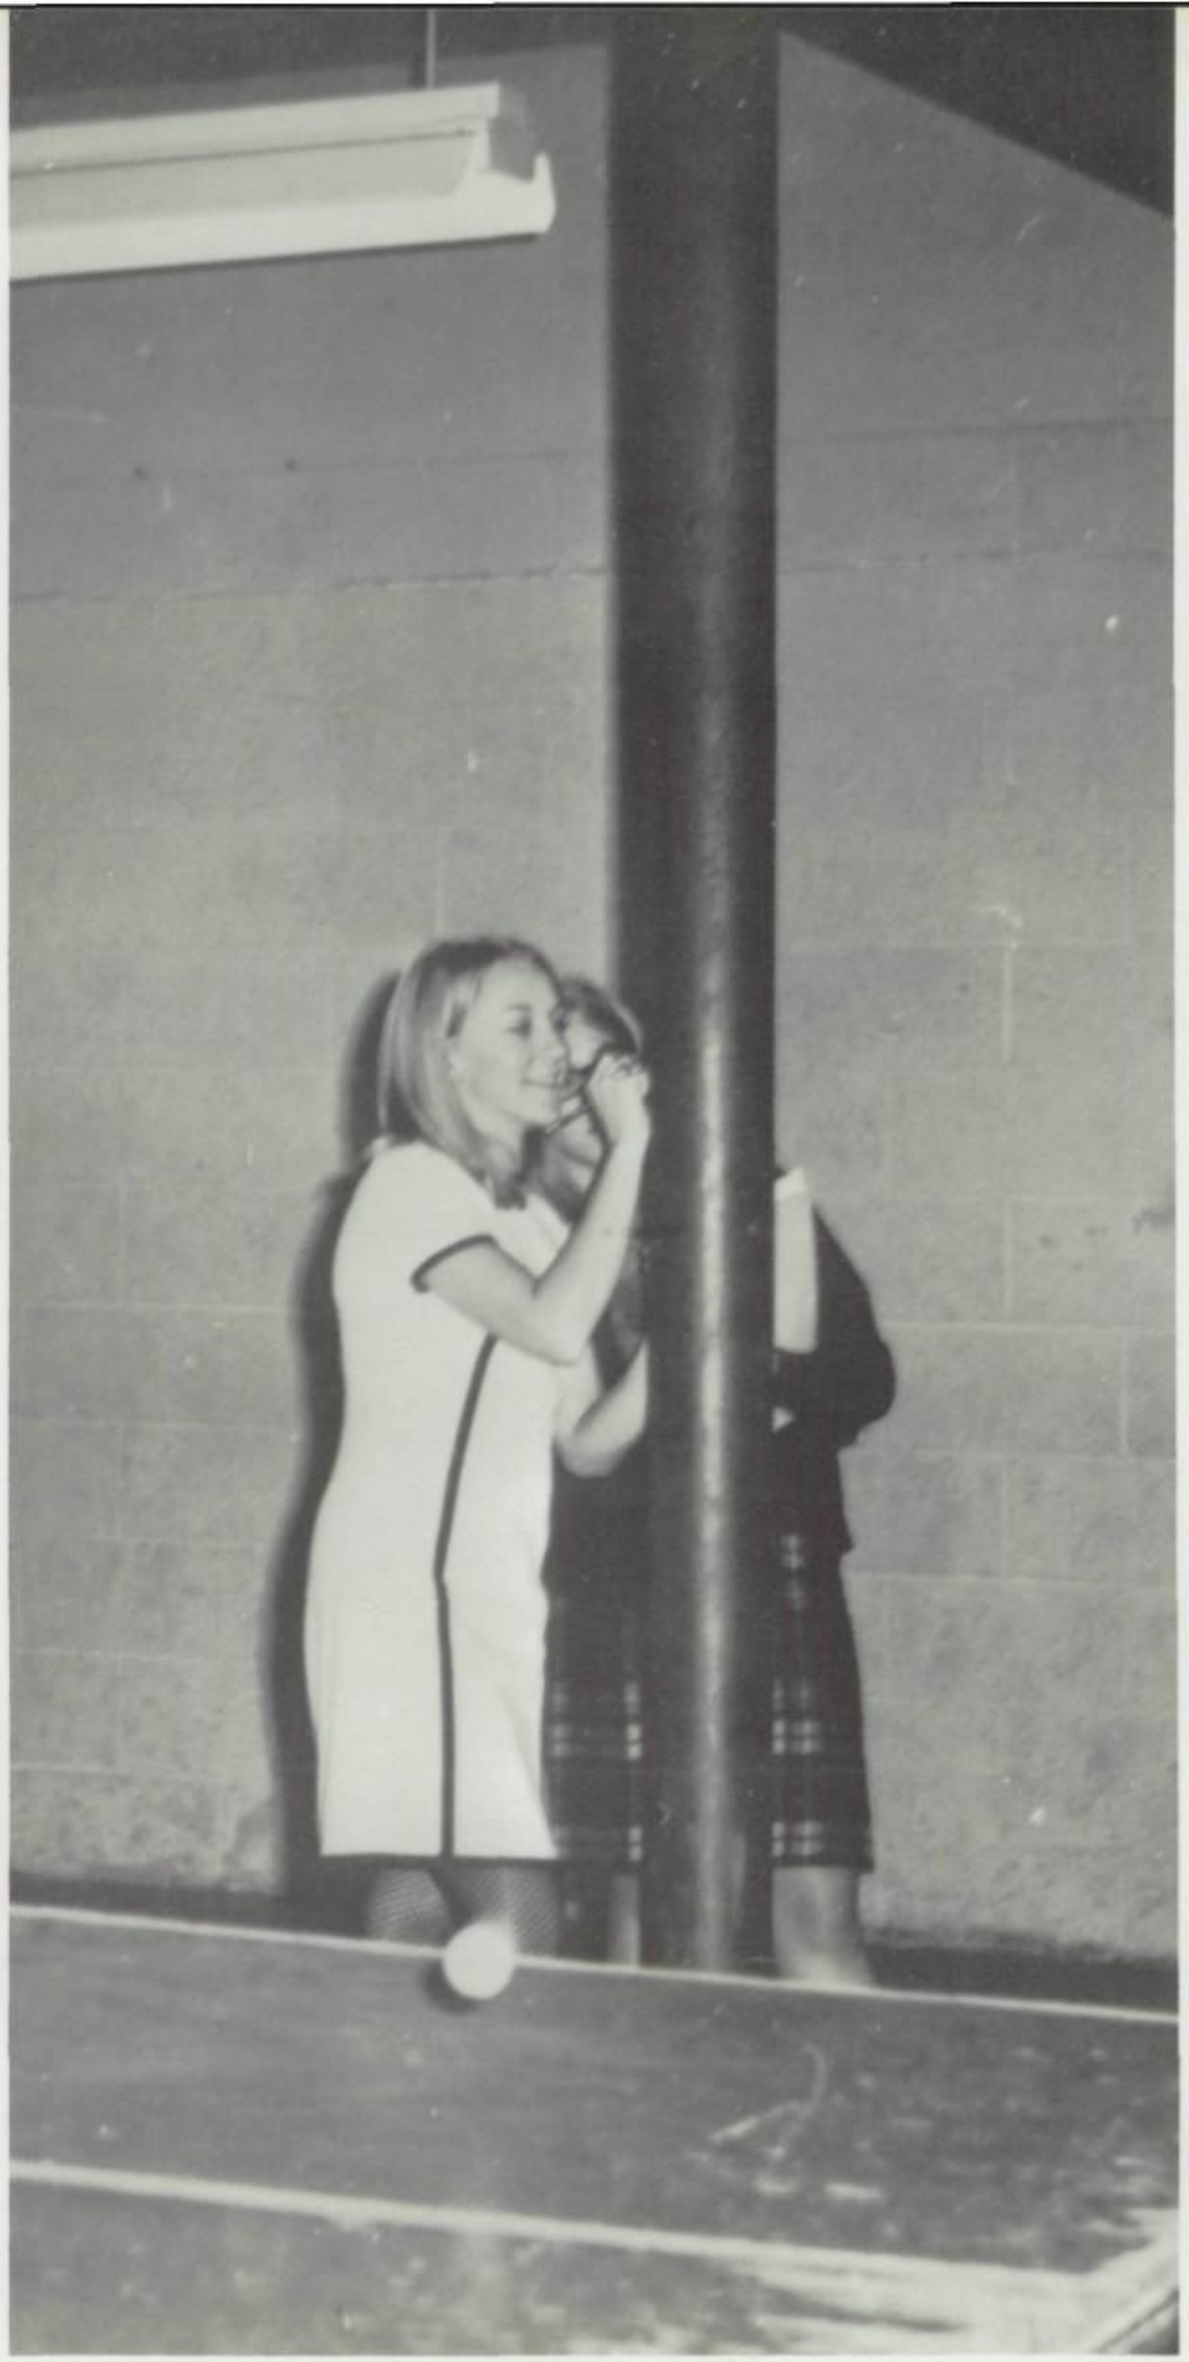
In home economics, students learned how to go shopping for meats and the best quality foods, experienced sewing and cooking, and learned how to select good color schemes for clothing and home decorating. The highlight for the girls was in the yearly dress review where they were able to show off their new clothes and act as hostesses by serving cookies and punch afterwards.

Shop was a very useful course for the boys to take. They not only used such things as the lathe, but also learned the principles of architecture through mechanical drawing. At open house during April, the parents saw their child's work exhibited with the rest of the class. The mechanical drawing student's house plans were on exhibit in the halls during the second semester.

Everyone knew when the agriculture class met because one could hear them busily repairing farm machinery. On some days, however, they were learning the principles of farming and caring for livestock.

All of these vocational studies gave the students of Knox High the opportunity to prepare for the future.

Welding was one of the basic crafts in agriculture.



Clubs in

Clubs played an important part of school life in K.H.S. In the many extra-curricular activities offered at Knox, students learned skills that otherwise would have not been available.

Teachers often gave up their free time to be the sponsors of these organizations. Every Friday morning during the activity period, clubs could hold meetings.

K.H.S. had many activities to offer its students. For the scientific minds X.E.N. was offered. Smoke Signals and Sandbur Staff was opened to those seeking journalism. Those thinking of teaching as a career participated in F.T.A. Those interested in vocational arts entered F.F.A. and F.H.A. School spirit was never forgotten as shown by those in cheerblock and K-Club.

Many activities were undertaken by clubs of K.H.S. Every club had the opportunity of selecting a Homecoming queen candidate. After Friday night games, some clubs sponsored dances as a money making project.

By participating in clubs students not only had a chance to try out new careers, but also to meet new friends.

Changes Made by Sandbur Staff to Create

Barb Peterson was happy to receive a letter from the American Yearbook Co. confirming that the first deadline was met.

The KHS yearbook staff spent many long hours drawing layouts, writing copy, thinking of headlines, and composing brilliant captions. These hours were spent not only fourth period in room three, but also during every vacation either at school or at a staff member's home. This time and effort was spent to meet their once a month deadlines.

Mr. Miller, the new advisor, helped the staff whenever they were in trouble. The Co-Editors, Susie Elam and Barb Peterson, assigned pages, proofed pages, and completed pages until they were literally sick of pages. Lorretta Clemons, business manager, was in charge of all business activity, and the photographers, Kathy Dedloff, Jim Keen, and Reed Siebenthal spent their time either taking or processing pictures for the yearbook.

Many changes took place in the '68 Sandbur, including the cutting down on pages, more action pictures instead of posed ones, making the yearbook strictly a high school yearbook, and leaving out many unnecessary items.

The chief aim of the Sandbur Staff was to create the best and most remembered yearbook ever.

Patty Werner worked on the yearbook whenever she had time and also over vacations.

Jim Lewandowski, Susie Elam, and Lorretta Clemons also showed up at vacation work sessions.

Student Council Acted as K.H.S. Backbone

The Student Council consisted of the president and a girl and boy representative from each class. Dennis Price was elected student body president in May 1967. He took over his position in September after attending a training session at I.U. during the summer. His jobs included presiding over lyceum programs and student council meetings and reading the announcements every morning at the beginning of the second period. Dennis was a member of the Thespian Society, the K-Club, and the football, basketball, and track squads. Due to injuries Dennis was unable to play basketball, but he still demonstrated school spirit and sportsmanship. The other officers of the Student Council were Butch Fennema, Vice President and Nancy Wright, Secretary-Treasurer.

With the help of their sponsor, Mr. James, school procedure was established in the student council meetings held in the library every other Friday, and then this procedure was made known to the student body. This year since so many students drove to school, the student council had to set up a new driving plan in the parking lot. They also handled the polls for electing the Homecoming queen and sponsored dances after Friday night football games. To help bring Christmas to the needy families of Starke County, the student council again conducted a food drive.

Nancy Wright, Secretary-Treasurer, balanced the Student Council books.

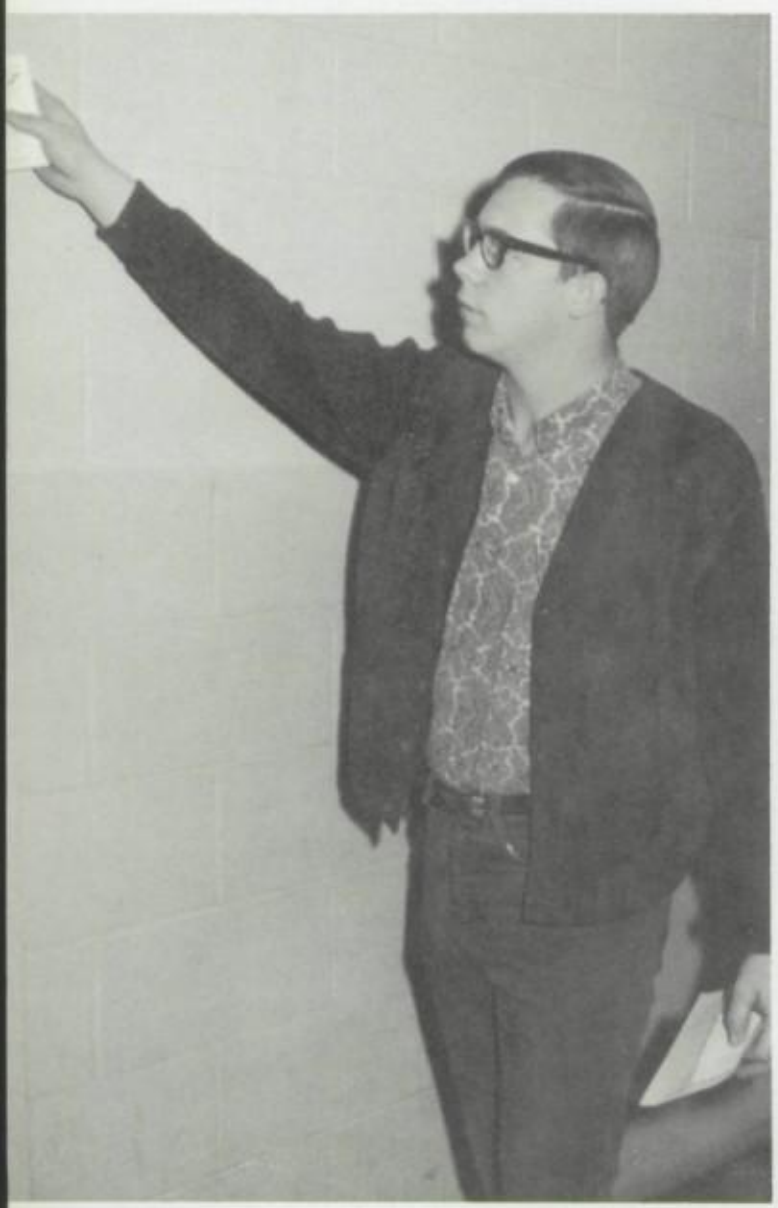
K-Club Members Had Active Year While



K-Club membership grows three times a year—after football and cross country, basketball and wrestling, and again after track. To be a member you have to earn a letter in one of the above sports either by participating or being a manager.

The K-Club was sponsored by Mr. Rush who was very informal at the meetings and loads of fun.

When something important happened and it was not convenient for the entire K-Club to meet, Mr. Rush just called the executive council together. This council consisted of the officers and the jacket winners. In previous years to earn your jacket, a member had to receive three varsity letters in two different sports. But starting with the Class of '69 four varisty letters in two sports are required. This number was changed because of the addition of wrestling as a varsity sport.

One of the major activities of the K-Club was helping at varsity basketball games, wrestling matches, and at the sectional. They also helped at the Holiday Tourney and the Freshmen, B-Team tourney when they were held at Knox.

K-Club members like Dean Dorman participated in other school activities and duties.

This year the Knox High School Band had many exciting and different activities. Of these, they were invited to the Mardi Gras at Riverview, and there they won a trophy for the marching they did. The trophy was presented to Mr. Laramore at the beginning of the year by the band president Sam Byer. The Band also went to New Haven for a marching contest, in which they placed second; They missed a first by a very slim margin.

They traveled to McCormick State Park for a week of band camp which everyone enjoyed. At camp they learned new routines and practiced marching. Besides this, they had many recreational facilities. They used many of the routines at home football games.

A concert band contest was held for all class D bands in Northern Indiana at Knox. This was the first year in the history of Knox High that we held a contest.

The band sold candy and after escorting Santa Claus into town, they canvased the town selling calendars to earn money for the uniforms they are planning to buy.

This year the Band Boosters helped make the band more colorful by buying new Pom Pom outfits.

The Knox High School Choir met each day fifth period in the band and choir room above the gym. During class time the choir prepared for concerts, contest, and lyceum programs. At the Ensemble Contest at South Bend the Highlighters, the high school ensemble, consisting of Sharon Roscka, Petra Ortman, Lois Bridegroom, Sandie Small, Debs Berning, Sally Sobraske, Donna Garland, Lee McIntire, Calvin Montgomery, Mark King, Bruce Campbell, Carlos Shrewsbury, Glenn Norem, and Steve Cole, placed second while the Lady Esquires, Donna Hayden, May Crider, Kathy Ikeda, Allison Scholz, Brenda Dedloff, Andrea Swanson, Janet McClure, Betsy Henry, and Shirlee Crider, placed first in their division. In March they had a choir and band contest for Class C. The chorus sang at the Christmas Convocation. They had three concerts throughout the course of the year.

The chorus had a new accompanist this year. It was Dorothy Ikeda. The director was again Mr. McGaughey. To raise enough money for the new robes the members of the choir had to sell candy.

to Gain Experience Through Expression

The Thespian Society, consisting of 18 members, didn't put on a play production in the fall, but they planned to present a play entitled, "You Can't Take It With You" in the spring.

Mrs. Miller, new both to the school and the play cast, replaced Mr. Mulligan as advisor, for he returned to Indiana University to obtain his Master's degree. Mrs. Miller's "newness" soon wore off, however, and she was of great help in giving suggestions for improvement.

The officers, elected at the end of last year, were: Margo Shaw, President; Bill McClure, Vice President; Nancy Wright, Secretary; Bill Beeson, Treasurer; Butch Fennema, Reporter; Steve Bodinet, Sergeant-at-Arms; and Kris Kehoe, Librarian.

Last year the Thespian Society presented two plays. The first play they presented was "Bernadine" and the second they performed was the one entitled "The Silver Whistle". The snap shots on these two pages were all taken during the presentation of "The Silver Whistle".

All this confusion over a stolen bird bath.

School Libraries Maintained Through the

The student body is thankful for the library club's service. Through their donated time and effort, books were repaired, checked out and references found. Any one interested in library work and willing to give up a study hall was eligible for library club work.

Miss Curnutt and Mrs. Schuster were the sponsors of this year's library and both spent many hours making the library better for students use. The officers of library were Cheryl Blessing, President; Kay Shanks, Vice-President; Aline Raffel, Treasurer; and Valerie Johnston, Secretary. Student Projectionists, who operated film projectors for teachers were also a part of library club.

Cheryl Blessing, president of library, was selected as the library Homecoming queen representative to compete with the representatives from the F.T.A., Smoke Signals, and Science Club.

The Junior High also participated in library. The Junior High officers were Patty Binkowski, President; Linda Lucas, Vice-President; Allison Scholz, Secretary; Della Corey, Treasurer. The Junior High library was maintained by student librarians and projectionist. Many of these librarians will continue their work when they enter high school.

The X.E.N. Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Hill, is an organization for those students interested in various fields of science.

In March the science club sponsored the annual Science Fair in the gym. The thirteen members of the science club were required to enter projects in this fair. They were also to encourage other students to enter projects. Displays in chemistry, biochemistry, biology, botany, and various fields of science were represented in this year's Science Fair.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance, March 8, 1968, was a big success as it had been in the previous years. This money making project was a turn-a-bout dance, and the couples dressed hillbilly style.

John Kossnar worked on the Sadie Hawkins posters at a Science Club meeting.

School spirit was one of the foremost personality traits of many students in K.H.S. this year. Everyone was always overjoyed on Fridays not because school was out for the weekend, but because they knew they could look forward to the game that night.

The cheerblock this year wore the traditional white skirts, white blouses, and red vests, but the cheerleaders really went wild with their new outfits. They were white mini skirts with six pleats and white sweaters with red and white striped sleeves.

Because there were no dues this year, the cheerblock sponsored a dance after the game with Twin Lakes. This money was used for the awards to the four year members at the end of the year.

Since the officers had done nothing in the past years, it was decided that the cheerleaders, with the help of Miss Crowder, would be in charge of the block. Another rule this year was that anyone absent had to get a substitute so that the cheering section would be the right size, and there would be no seating problems during the games.

The Future Teachers met on the second and fourth Mondays of every month in room 15 either right after school for just a business meeting or at 7:00 in the evening, if they had a planned program. Since the main objective of the F.T.A. was to give students the opportunity to actually experience teaching, they had speakers, usually teachers or people interested in education as a whole, come and speak to them about some topic associated with teaching.

This year the F.T.A. had a chance to go to district meetings. The members were also in charge of registration at Open House. During American Education Week the F.T.A. members were able to cadet teach. The first week was for observation, and the second week these students actually taught others.

To make money for the scholarship given at the end of the year to a deserving senior, the F.T.A. had a bake sale. They also sold Halloween Insurance for $1.00 a policy which guaranteed clean-up after Halloween.

The officers this year were Patty Henry, President; Terri Armondo, Vice-President; Rosemary Rose, Secretary-Treasurer; Debs Berning, Reporter; Nancy Mlekodaj, Historian; and Barb Peterson, Program Chairman. The sponsor was Mr. Watson.

G.A.A. Adopted New System

Clara Brown and Nancy Binkowski liked ping pong.

OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE BOARD: Lynn Hall, Activity Leader; Barb Peterson, Treasurer; Nancy Binkowski, Secretary; Georgeanne Palman; Linda Gustafson; Sharon Carlson, Vice-President; Janice Miller; Debs Berning, President; Arneta Piper; Miss Douglas, Sponsor; Clara Brown; Kris Kehoe; Kathy Bailey, Patty Binkowski; Kathy Ikeda; Jane Hamblin; Jane Pettinato; and Debbie Wentz.

Since Miss Lucas moved, Miss Douglas took over the G.A.A. until the new physical education teacher, Miss Graham, arrived in February. This year an executive committee besides the officers was appointed to revise or make a new Constitution. The main point of controversy was awards. In the previous years, everyone in G.A.A. has received an award. The traditional awards were a pin as freshmen, a K as sophomores, a pin as juniors, and a charm as seniors. This year the G.A.A. decided to give awards only to people with a certain number of points. Five points were given to anyone who attended a meeting and then five more if they participated in the activities afterwards. Only twenty points from outside activities could be used toward the 200 points required to remain in the organization. Another major change was that instead of having a business meeting every Wednesday, they would conduct meetings only when necessary. This way the girls would be able to get more recreation out of being in G.A.A.

For their money-making project, the G.A.A. sponsored a Christmas dance after the basketball game with LaVille.

The officers this year were Debs Berning, President; Sharon Carlson, Vice-President; Nancy Binkowski, Secretary; Barb Peterson, Treasurer; and Lynn Hall, Activity Leader. Members of the executive committee were Linda Gustafson, Janice Miller, and Arneta Piper, Seniors; Clara Brown, Georgeanne Palman, and Kris Kehoe, Juniors; Jane Hamblin, Jane Pettinato, and Debbie Wentz, Sophomores; and Kathy Bailey, Patty Binkowski, and Kathy Ikeda, Freshmen.

The Future Homemakers of America prepared for the future not only by learning what's in books but also through experience. The sponsor this year was Mrs. Hanselman, the Home Economics teacher.

Their money making projects for the year were a bake sale and the sales of cookbooks. The F.F.A. and F.H.A. elected Kathy Wakal as their Homecoming queen candidate. A Christmas party and a Mothers' Tea were held during the year. The girls also attended a rollerskating party given by the F.F.A. They reduced the shading on the basketball uniforms from 5/8 of an inch to 1/4 of an inch.

The girls who went to the District Officers Training Meetings in the fall and spring were Cathy Smith, Kathy Wakal, Patty Werner, Linette Davis, Naoma Davis, Debbie Van Deman, Fern Miller, Judy Houston, and Barbara Jacobs. Mrs. Hanselman and Miss Roberta Werner drove and attended the meeting. Two officers, Linnette and Noama Davis, moved to Texas during the year.

Being Feature Co-Editor kept Sandie Small busy.

Under a new sponsor the school newspaper staff had hopes of a better Smoke Signals. Miss Crowder worked with Bill McClure, Editor-in-Chief, and many others on making the newspaper a symbol of school spirit.

Bill McClure attended the newspaper workshop down at I.U. last summer. At the awards banquet, he received a citizenship award.

The Smoke Signals were published biweekly and sold for 10¢ per copy. Each paper consisted of news, sports, editorials, and feature articles. The Editor-in-Chief made assignments, proofread, sold papers, wrote editorials, and was in charge of many things.

The secretarial practice class typed the newspaper again this year, and Production Manager Wade Nichols mimeographed it. Other officers were Nancy Binkowski, Assistant Editor; Sandie Small and Ricki Dorsey, Feature Editors; Cheryl Blessing, Circulation Manager; Nancy Wright, Business Manager; Donna Nordstrom, Art Editor; Butch Fennema and Bill Beeson, Sports Editors; Paula Thompson, News Editor; Greg Matt, Column Editor; and Debbie Corey, Society Editor.

The latest gossip and polls were included in the newspaper.

Future Farmers Enjoyed Learning New

The Future Farmers of America was a group of young men that were learning the best ways to farm and produce the best crops possible. They learned how to raise prize cattle, hogs, sheep, etc. During this year they were taught new methods of preventing diseases in farm animals and how to keep their crops healthy and productive. The boys learned about farm machinery and how to operate a farm in general.

Besides learning about farming, they also learned to weld and repair machinery. They were allowed to work on or repair things they brought from home. Under the guidance of Mr. Miller, the boys successfully completed their projects eventually.

The F.F.A. did many things outside of class. They had their banquet this year on October 30. They worked hard to earn their jackets and various other articles. Every year they elect a Chapter Sweetheart. This year their choice was Susie Elam.

Susie Elam, selected chapter sweetheart, was presented a jacket by Paul McVey, president, at the F.F.A. banquet.

The freshman, or "Greenhands" also attended the banquet.

Paul McVey presented an award.

Many banquet goers enjoyed the meal and the activities afterward.

Captain, Dennis Powers; Sponsor, Mr. Cira; Captain, Bob Brown.

This year there were 70 patrol boys and 38 of them were Freshmen. The captains, Bob Brown and Dennis Powers, with the help of their sponsor, Mr. Cira, had to set up the working schedule. They also made sure the boys were in the right places at the designated times. There were posts on Main Street, both at the school and railroad tracks, and also at the stoplight on Highway #35.

These boys stood at the crossings not only in the nice weather but also in rain, sleet, or snow. Many children depended on these boys to tell them when to cross the streets. Many of them looked up to our patrol boys as future traffic directors.

The equipment used by the patrol boys this year consisted of a yellow or red caution jacket, a flag, and a blinking school crossing sign.

At the end of the year the patrol boys took their traditional trip to the Dunes State Park as a reward for the services they rendered during the school year. Although they returned worn out and exhausted they enjoyed the trip and would be willing to repeat their action next year.

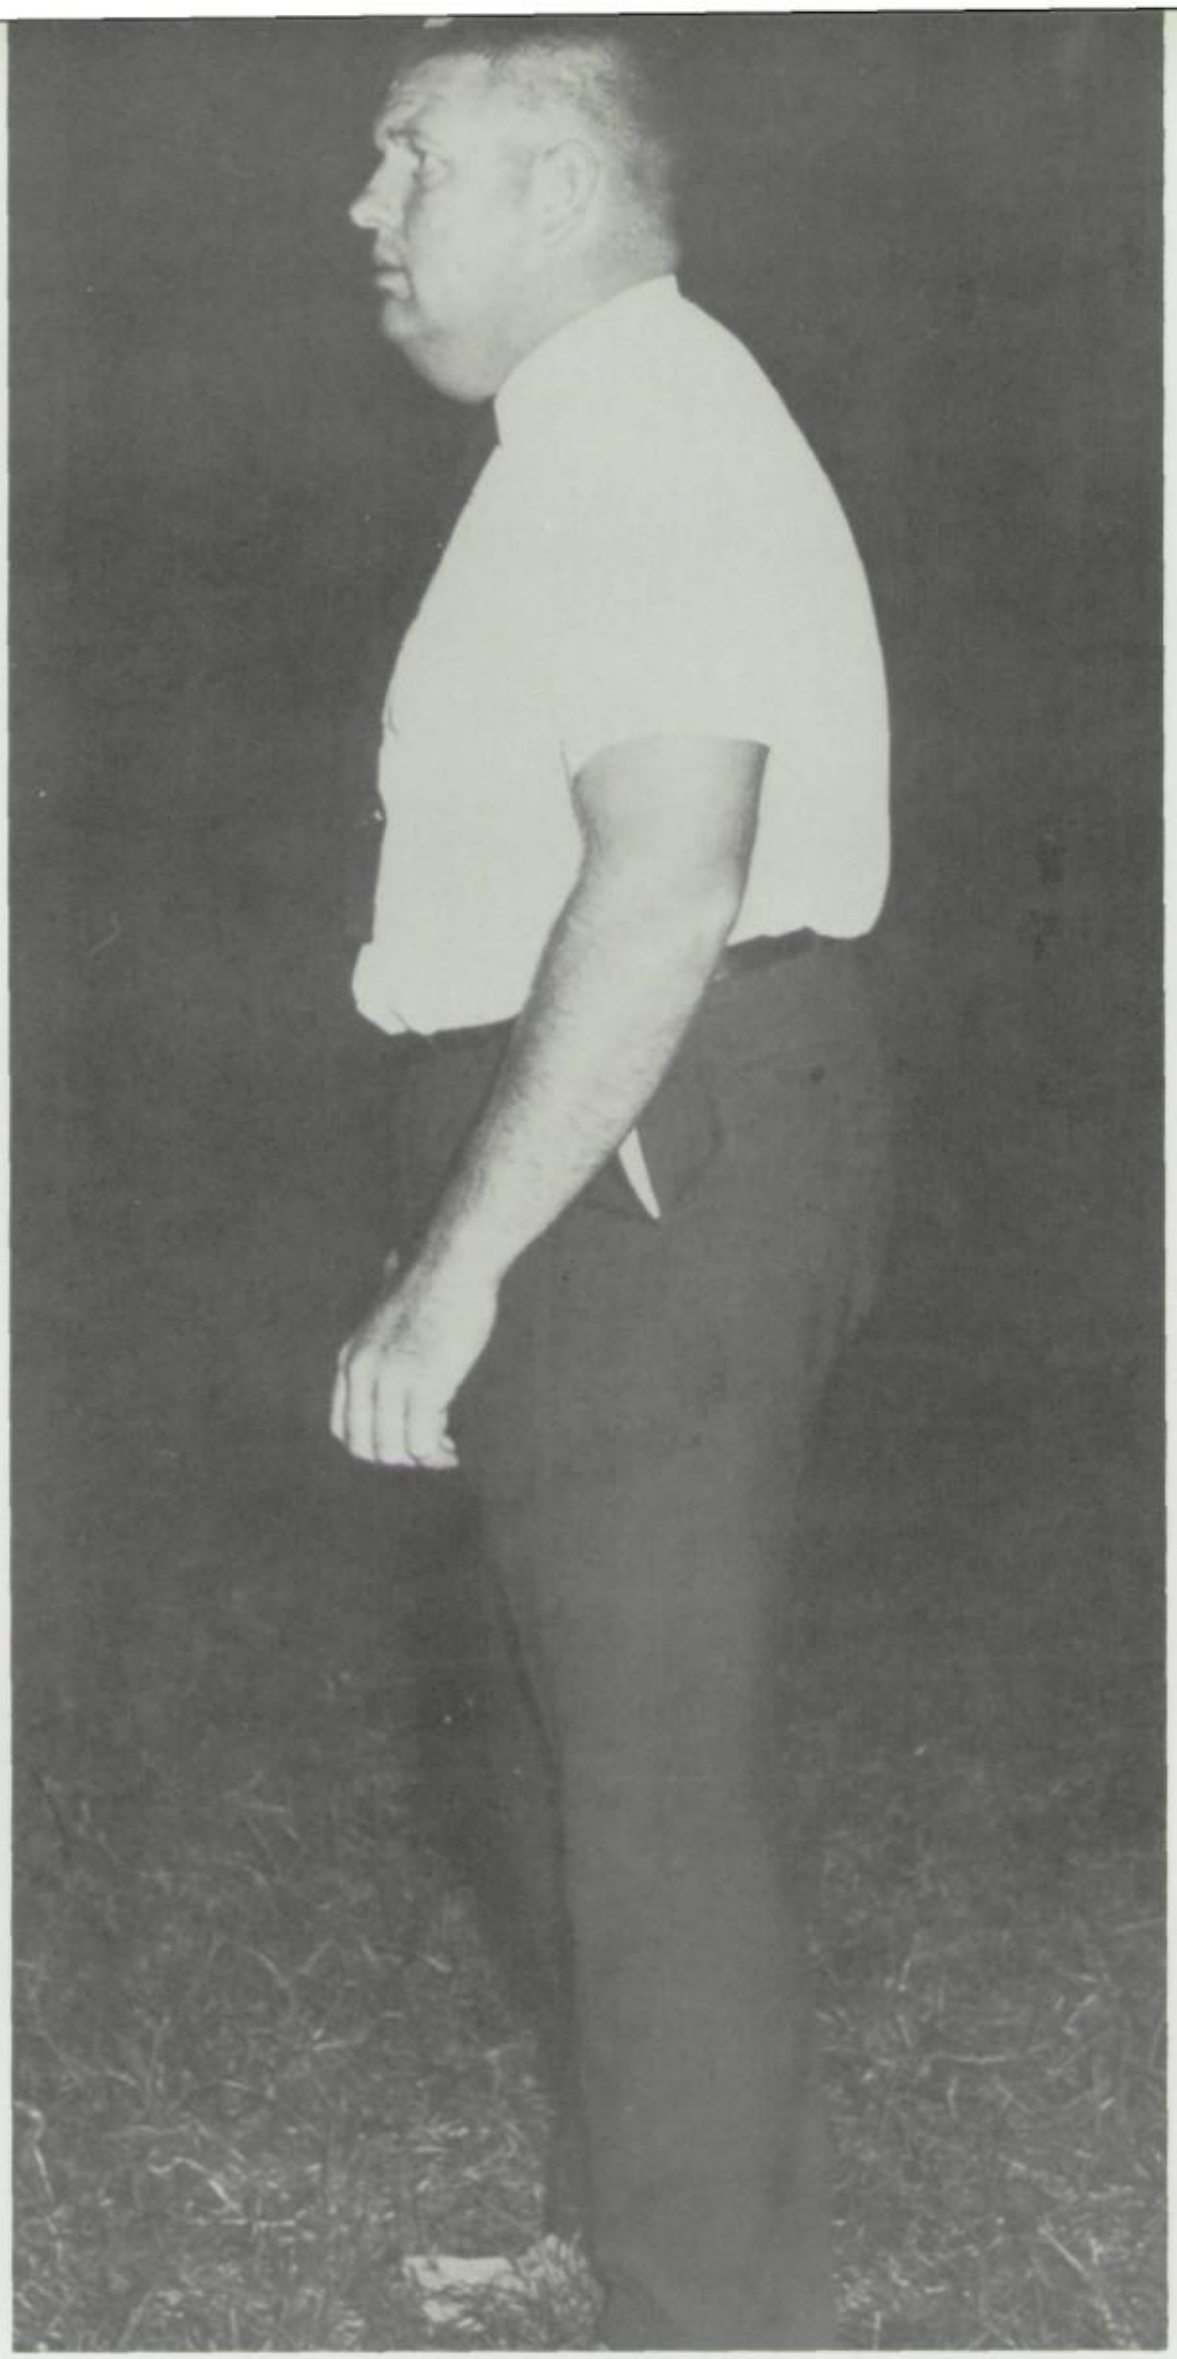
The Book Club consisted of 90 members, 35 of which were Freshmen.

A variety of books were on sale this year. A few of these were Cheaper By the Dozen, Monkees Go Mod, Strangely Enough, The Red Badge of Courage, and The Man Who Invented Time. All members were requested to order at least two books a semester in order to receive their awards.

The officers for the past year were Betsy Henry, President; Janet McClure, Vice-President; Denesa Carter, 7th Grade Secretary; Jim Wright, 8th Grade Secretary; Carla Raffel, 9th Grade Secretary; and Mrs. Hamblin, Sponsor.

The past Vice-President became President at the beginning of the year. Her main job was to conduct the business meetings. The secretaries had the responsibility of passing out order blanks, collecting the money, and making sure everyone had picked his books after they had come in.

Chris Shaw, Janie Fisher, and Carla Raffel helped sort books when they arrived.



Sports in

The toss of the coin, the referees' signal, the kick off and the Redskins started the 1967-68 sports season. Sports were off to a fighting start as our football squad took the field in their opening game. Cheers of encouragement echoed across the field expressing the pride in the heart of every loyal K.H.S. fan.

Throughout the year our many teams did not win every game or match, but they compiled records worthy of praise and added to the already well stocked trophy case.

Sports were not only the games and meets; it was also many practices. Football season really started on August 15 with practices twice a day. Wrestling practice included running laps up and around the gym. Boys interested in track, cross country, and basketball also spent much of their time keeping in shape.

However, this year's varied programs of the athletics brought more than trophies and honors. It developed skills and offered an outlet for energy; it established a feeling of unity and loyalty among the student body. Most of all it gave us a Redskins spirit that no loss could upset and that no victory could make boastful.

The winner of the 1967 Ben Bowen award was Larry Dust. This award was presented to Larry for high athletic achievement, for excellent sportsmanship, and also for high scholastic rating in his class.

Larry participated in cross country, football, basketball, and track. Besides being in these various sports, Larry was a very active member of his class, and his senior year he was elected president of the student body. He was also a member of the Thespian Society and his junior year a Boy's State Representative.

Crowd Showed More Interest

When Gary Watkins got kicked out of the game, the fans were just as unhappy as he was.

The Knox Redskin varsity football squad completed the 1967 season with a 4—4—1 record. The squad consisted of 13 seniors, 13 juniors, 8 sophomores, and 6 freshmen. 12 of these boys were returning lettermen from the past year. They were led by their captains Gary Watkins and Greg Rudd.

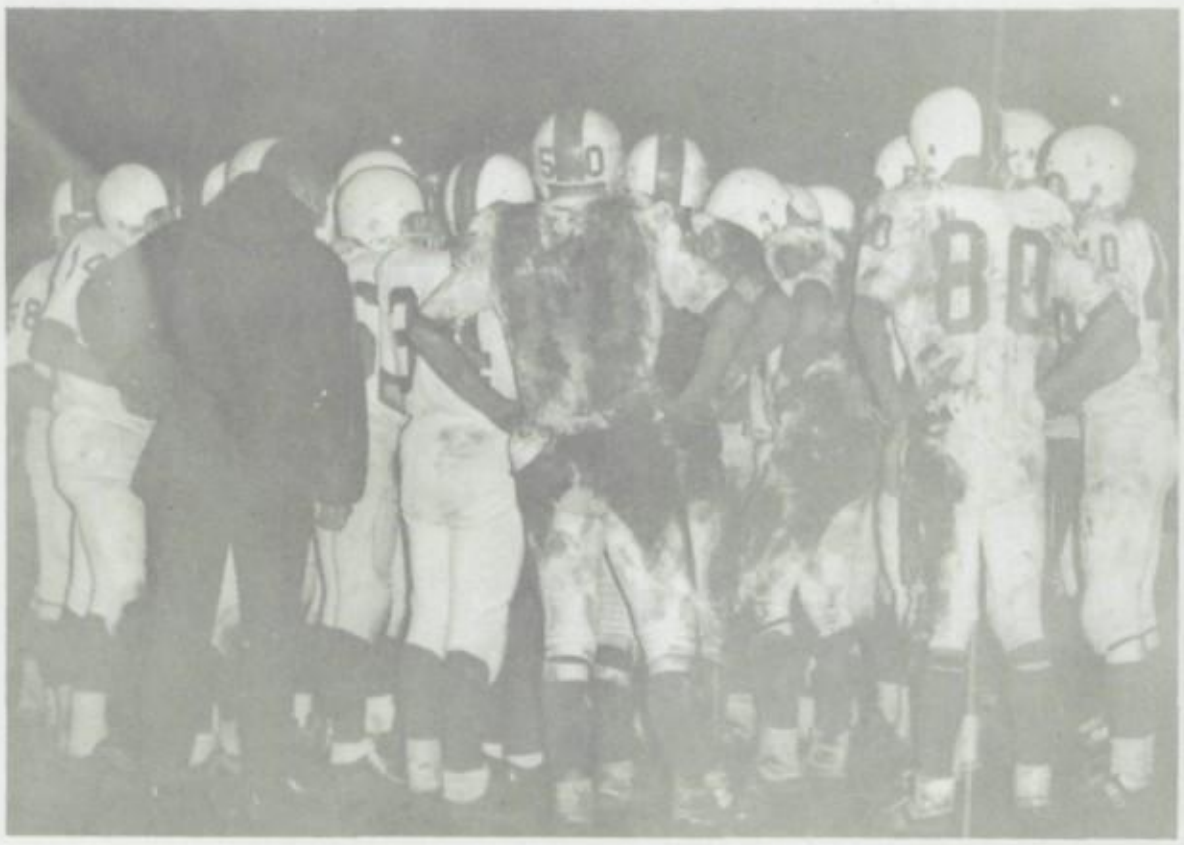
Even though Knox was defeated by North Judson, they beat Rensselaer for the first time in many years. They were downed by Twin Lakes on their homecoming and tied New Carlisle on parents night.

Vern Fletcher, our starting defensive guard, was injured in the first game and couldn't play the rest of the season. There were more injuries this year than in recent years. Our most valuable back of 1966, Denny Price, was injured in an automobile accident last summer and didn't get to play much this season.

After the Rensselaer game the varsity players burned their yellow shirts on the middle of the field. These shirts were worn because the coach said they were chickens after losing the game to North Liberty.

At the end of the season the players vote on the most valuable lineman, most valuable back, and the captains for the following year. John Norem received the lineman award and Dale Morris received the back award. The captains for the 1968 season will be Dean Dorman and Dale Morris.

The coaches for the 1967 season were Mr. Rush, Mr. Sanders, Mr. Sniadecki, and Mr. Hill.



During the time outs, the coach discussed the strategy with our team. As you can see football is not always a clean game.

John Norem was honored when he discovered his teammates had voted him lineman of the year.

Mr. McBeth showed his school spirit by assisting during a football game.

Steve Cole and other players congratulate Calvin Montgomery for doing his job well.

Come on you guys, we've got the ball so let's hustle.

This was a familiar scene at the football games, because our squad loved to tackle their opponents.

Mr. Rush was happy to present the back award to a Junior Dale Morris.

The Homecoming game was a muddy one.

Practice Paid off a Victory at Sectional

The Redskin basketball squad returned with all but four of the 66-67 squad. Although their record was not the best, the season had many high points. Beating arch-rival North Judson two regularly scheduled games 66—48 and 72—66, and beating them in the consolation game at the holiday tourney were among the greatest moments in the hearts of K.H.S. fans. Rensselaer was downed by the Redskins squad after a hard fought battle.

The backboards were controlled for the Redskins by Roger Pawlik and Wade Nichols both 6' 5". Wade Nichols and Greg Rudd were the high scorers of the team. Bill Beeson and Sam Byer helped raise the score with long shots. Bill McClure made many fast breaks to really boost the score.

A basketball team would be nothing without practice and the encouragement and criticism of the coaches. The team practiced many long hours after school and vacation. Mr. Beeson and Mr. Drews coached the boys on the team both in practice and games. John Fletcher and A. J. Gappa, managers, helped the coaches with injuries and aided the team.

Fan buses and away games went hand in hand. During the year many fans traveled to other schools to back the team.

Basketball, said to be the Indiana sport, was looked forward to throughout the year. As the season started, hopes were high and our team strived to carry out these hopes.

Greg Rudd shot and raised the score again.

The Cross Country team represented Knox with honor. Mr. Drews coached the Knox Harriers through a good season and ended up with a 9—5 record. This hard working team consisted of seven juniors, six sophomores, and one freshman.

By always trying to better themselves, the team came up with one of the best records in the last ten years. They placed third in the New Carlisle Invitational and fourteenth in the Shortridge Invitational at Indianapolis. The team also came in eighth in the sectional.

The experience that the runners gained this year should prove to make a fine team next year.

Cross Country boys had great stamina.

Wrestlers Ended Great Year with

FRONT ROW: Mike Miller, Curtis Pitts, Dan Tokarz, Richard Aquino, Jim Norem, John Caudill, Rocky Beem, Chuck Randall. SECOND ROW: Cliff Snyder, John Norem, Stanley Wallen, John Kossnar, Gary Blessing, Clyde McFarland, Eddie Abbey, Kenny Caudill, Dale Morris, Paul McVey. THIRD ROW: Delbert Beem, Reed Siebenthal, Jerry Slauter, Butch Fennema, Jerry Gurrado, Mark Richey, Dave Mann, Joe Howard, Timmy Folkers. FOURTH ROW: Coach Rush.

Captain Rich Aquino and Coach Rush were thrilled to receive the first sectional trophy for the Knox Wrestlers from the Principal of Crown Point High School.

John Caudill wrestled Crown Point and put up a good fight.

The Knox High School wrestling team had a most successful season this year, with a 6—4 record in dual meets, winning the Knox Invitational for the second successive year, and topping off the season with a championship in the Crown Point Sectional. The Knox team emerged a narrow victor in a close field of twelve teams. Dan Tokarz was their only individual winner although three members of the team placed second and three placed third. During the season the team was paced by John Norem with a 14—1 mark, Paul McVey with a 13—3, and Chuck Randall with 14—3.

This year there were 27 boys who participated in wrestling. Although there was only room for twelve boys on the varsity at a time, there was tough competition in all weight classes with the varsity line-up changing several times during the year.

Even though the members of the team did the wrestling, they couldn't have won all these honors without the excellent coaching, leadership, and the spirit instilled in them by Coach Rush. Seven of the regular varsity wrestlers will return next year, including four of whom placed in the sectional. This will provide the good, solid foundation for the building of another championship team. The captain for next year will be Chuck Randall.

Mike Miller fought the hardest he'd ever fought at the sectional.

The Knox High track squad had a very good season winning nine and losing two. We defeated arch-rival North Judson by one point in a three-way meet at Winamac but lost to them by two points in a dual at North Judson. This and a loss to Culver are the only blots on the 1967 record.

Practice time on the cinder oval found the field events men at their respective events. The sprinters and hurdlers went with Head Coach Sanders and worked on their starts and stride over the hurdles. The quarter milers, half milers, and the distance men went with Assistant Coach Drews and worked on building up their endurance. Coach Drews had two outstanding two milers in Bill Gustafson and Harry Budka, each of whom broke the school record repeatedly in this relatively new event. High jumper Mike Zink almost broke the school record in this event.

Knox had a very explosive team twice scoring 99 points and once scored 104 points. We lost to Culver by 10 points, but one more first place finish and we would have won the meet. At North Judson in the dual meet, one more third place finish and we would have gained a tie.

The squad had many underclassmen in the key positions in every event. There were only four seniors on the squad. Coach Sanders and his assistant, Mr. Sniadecki, look forward to a very bright 1968 season.

Our best long jumper makes another successful jump.

People in

Although students were the core of the daily school life, there were many others who played an active part.

The responsibility of getting the country students to the school rested heavily on the bus drivers. Some of them also drove the Redskin fans and teams to away sports events. Keeping the buildings clean and in working condition was the job of the janitors. For school dances and club meetings the janitors were present to open the buildings and offer their help when needed. Parents who were on call for chaperoning dances and fan buses, who were band boosters, and who showed interest in school activities also played a great part in student life. Doors of life and learning were opened by the capable faculty. Among the first to arrive and the last to leave each evening, the members of the faculty were always ready to help the students. The top brass handled the daily school life and counselled the students.

And then, of course, there were the students. The halls came to life as the bell rang dismissing each class. Decorating lockers with everyones favorite saying, exhibiting school spirit on "I see red" days, and studying for exams were all a part of student life.

Knox High School owes much to the many people who made it possible for the students to enjoy their high school years.

Class of '68 Began Senior Year with

Much Anticipation of Graduation in May

Senior Sponsors: Mr. McBeth, Mrs. Hite, Mrs. Lucas, Mr. Drews, and Mr. Beeson.

"Seniors at last!" was the cry of the students in the Class of '68 on September 5, 1967. For eleven years they had been anticipating and wondering about their feelings as Seniors—and on the first day of school they knew the feeling was sometimes happy, sometimes sad, sometimes fearful, and sometimes indifferent. They had finally reached the final year in high school, and they realized that this was just one of the milestones they would encounter during their lives.

Most of the class remembered little happenings they had experienced in the grades, but the most treasured memories were their experiences in K.H.S. As young, frightened Freshmen, students from Knox, Washington Township, California Township, and Catholic schools consolidated making the largest class ever to enter the Knox school system. When they came to the high school their sophomore year, they realized they weren't as smart as they thought, but being able to not only attend high school dances, but also to participate in any high school activities they chose was enjoyed. The junior year was filled with the excitement of both receiving their oval shaped class rings and putting on the prom. Trading senior pictures, attending their last Homecoming, going on their class trip, and finally graduating were some of the highlights of the Class of '68's senior year.

Being a senior wasn't all peaches and cream, though. All the seniors were required to take a semester of government and one of economics. Other common subjects for the seniors to study were world history, speech, physics, senior literature, senior math, physical science, psychology, sociology, economic geography, shorthand, and business law.

Butch Fennema, President of the Class, read the announcements in place of absent Dennis Price.

Senior Memories.

Seniors Enjoyed Working and Goofing Off

Wade Nichols, Butch Fennema, and Bill McClure have had about enough to drink.

Lois Bridegroom and Denny Price picked out the best roses for the trellis at the prom.

Marquita Brooks was one of the first girls to be measured by Barb Peterson.

Vern Hendricks, Wade Nichols, Gary Watkins, and Andy Howes played important roles in the Veterans' Day program.

Sandie Small and Lorretta Clemons were in charge of the choir robes on concert night.

Gary Watkins always spent his study halls well.

Cheryl Blessing and Claudia Allen exchanged pictures with other seniors at noon.

Whatever John Norem is doing, Linda Gustafson doesn't seem to mind.

The Junior Year Opened with

Committee meetings weren't all work, as you can see.

The members of the Class of '69 had their work cut out for them this year. Since the Juniors had ordered their class rings at the end of their sophomore year, the rings were delivered to Cook's Jewelry Store near the end of August.

The next big job the Juniors had to tackle was electing a Homecoming queen candidate and selecting a theme for their float. Betty VanDeman had the honor of representing her class in the Homecoming festivities. With the theme, "Dash to Victory", the Juniors won first place.

The entire class was proud when Dale Morris was named most valuable back in football.

The fish fry held on December 1st before the Culver basketball game was the moneymaking project of the Class of '69.

The officers, elected at the end of their Sophomore year, were Bill Beeson, President; Clara Brown, Vice-President; Lynn Hall, Student Council; Sally Sobraske, Treasurer; Nancy Binkowski, Secretary; and Tom Kimmey, Student Council.

Sophomores Entered Knox High

Aren't you ready, yet?

No longer the "Big Shots" at the Junior High, the Sophomores entered the great halls of KHS. Most of the 131 sophomores took advantage of the fact that now they could finally join or participate in any high school activity they chose.

The Class of '70 started the year off by electing Peggy Garland as their Homecoming queen candidate, and by selecting "Coasting to Victory" as the theme of their float. Taking second place was the Sophomores reward for the hard work and time spent on their float.

The Sophomores had a fine turnout at their class party near the end of the year. Without their money making project, a pancake breakfast, this party would have been impossible. In short, the Sophomores had a year filled to the brim with both work and fun.

The officers, who were elected at the end of their freshman year were Jack Moore, President; Jim Beeson, Vice-President; Peg Garland, Secretary; Merlyn Lucas, Treasurer; and Clara Bridegroom and Jay Slauter, Student Council Representatives.

146 Freshmen Crowded the Halls of KJHS

Officers and Sponsors: Marjorie Morris, Student Council; Mrs. Beeson, Sponsor; Sandy Keiser, Secretary; Jerry Slauter, Student Council; Mrs. Hamblin, Sponsor; Becky Brown, Treasurer; Bill Wakal, President; Bob Brown, Vice-President; Mr. Ecker, Sponsor.

The Class of '71, with its one hundred forty-six members, were finally eligible to participate in and enjoy many high school activities. The boys showed great interest in all the sports—football, cross country, basketball, wrestling, and track. Their participation in these athletics made the Freshman class proud of them. The girls, on the other hand, joined such organizations as G.A.A. and Cheerblock.

One of the first things the Freshmen had to do this year was to elect class officers. They chose Bill Wakal for their President; Bob Brown, Vice-President; Sandy Keiser, Secretary; Becky Brown, Treasurer; and Marjorie Morris and Jerry Slauter, Student Council Representatives.

With the aid and advice of their sponsors, Mrs. Beeson, Mrs. Hamblin, and Mr. Ecker, the Freshmen selected "Worm R Way 2 Victory" as the theme of their Homecoming float. They placed third in the competition. This year was the first that the Freshmen were represented in the Homecoming festivities by a queen candidate, and the lucky gal was Sandy Keiser.

By the end of the school year, the Freshmen had faced many trials and tribulations in math, English, vocational courses, business, Latin, or German. Each student in the Class of '71 found his place among his classmates, and now everyone of the Freshmen is eagerly awaiting next year when he will actually be in the high school.

Freshmen Green Hands were initiated at the F.F.A. banquet.

Community in

Knox High owes the community a round of applause for their support during the school year. The business men of the community helped sponsor activities through their time and donations. The K.H.S. teams were backed by the whole community.

The students of Knox High depended on the community for reference, supplies, and recreation. As the end of the school year approached, many students looked for jobs in the business district of our community.

The community is growing. In its ever present striving for better facilities to offer the patrons and the students, the community is improving. The hospital was enlarged; the bridge was rebuilt to accomodate more traffic.

As the enrollment at school increased, the need for a new school became evident. The new school that was planned will require much support from the community.

Many unnamed people made the community what it is today. These are the people that will be responsible for the advancements of our community and school system.
